TABLE OF CONTENTS

PART 1 STATEMENT OF FACTS

1. The Plaintiff Canadian Western Bank ("CWB") brings this application for appointment of a receiver and manager of Shamrock Valley Enterprises Ltd. (the "Borrower").

2. On or about January 27, 2020, CWB issued to the Borrower an offer of financing, as amended by letter dated June 18, 2021.

2. The Borrower is currently indebted to CWB in the amount of $3,929,196.20. Such amount excludes unbilled legal costs and interest on the credit card facility in the amount of $50,000 (the "Debt").

3. As security for payment of the Debt, the Borrower has provided to CWB the following security:

    (a) General Security Agreement dated March 17, 2015; and

    (b) General Security Agreement dated July 24, 2015

    (the "Security"). The Security has been registered in accordance with the laws of the Province of Alberta.

4. CWB has the first general security interest over the assets of the Borrower, as Business Development Bank of Canada ("BDC") has postponed its prior registration in favour of CWB.

5. The operating loan facility provided by CWB is permitted to draw based on margining formulas contained therein.

6. The Borrower provided a monthly Statement of Borrowing Limit dated June 4, 2021, which calculated the borrowing limit on the operating loan to be $3,853,475. CWB made such facility available, being unaware that the books and records of the Borrower were inaccurate.

7. In an effort to verify the margining representation of the Borrower, CWB emailed the Borrower and requested copies of invoices, on June 14, 2021. No response was received to such email.

8. After noting anomalies in the financial reporting of the Borrower, a representative of CWB contacted Murry Nielsen, a director of the Borrower, on or about June 22, 2021. During this conversation, Mr. Nielsen admitted that the books and records of the Borrower on which CWB had been margining, were inaccurate and that he was in the process of attempting to ascertain the true financial picture of the Borrower. In fact, Mr. Nielsen advised that the accounts receivable may be overstated in excess of $2 million.

9. From CWB's independent investigation, it appeared that stale-dated invoices which no longer qualified for margining were being combined and repackaged with new dates, making them eligible for margining. Similarly, the Borrower appeared to be issuing invoices for the sale of equipment and submitting such invoices as part of the margining formula in order to increase its borrowing limits.

10. From such independent investigation as CWB was able to conduct without direct access to the Borrower's books and records, it also appeared that the Borrower has been margining some accounts receivable that were up to 150 days old, when in fact the limit for margining was to be calculated based only on under 60 day accounts receivable.

11. CWB is unable to determine what the actual financial position of the Borrower is, without having direct access to the Borrower's books and records.

12. On June 18, 2021, CWB retained The Bowra Group Inc. ("Bowra") to undertake a "look see" of the Borrower's financial position, but the Borrower refused to allow Bowra access to their books and records.

13. On June 17, 2021, the Borrower had verbally agreed to the appointment of Bowra to undertake the look see referenced above, as a result of which CWB allowed the operating line to margin based on the June 4, 2021 formula, but such margining was conditional upon the Borrower allowing Bowra access to confirm such formula and other financial information as set out in the retainer letters with Bowra. The Borrower reneged on the agreement to have Bowra review their records.

PART 2 ISSUES

3. The following issues are raised in the application:

A. Should a Receiver be appointed by the Court in the present circumstances?

PART 3 ARGUMENT

A. Should a Receiver be appointed by the Court in the present circumstances?

4. This Court has jurisdiction to grant a receivership order pursuant to section 13(2) of the Judicature Act where it is just or convenient to do so.

Judicature Act, RSA 2000, c J-2, s 13 [Tab 1]

Strategic Financial Corp v 1402801 Alberta Ltd., 2012 ABQB 292 at para 12 [Tab 2]

5. Pursuant to section 243(1) of the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act (the "BIA"), a court may appoint a receiver on application by a secured creditor and upon the expiry of 10 days' notice to the insolvent person.

Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act RSC 1985, c B-3, s 243(1) [Tab 3]

6. A further statutory right to appoint a receiver is provided in the Alberta Business Corporations Act and the Personal Property Security Act wherein a security agreement or instrument provides for the appointment of a receiver.

Business Corporations Act, RSA 2000, c B-9, s 99 [Tab 4]

Personal Property Security Act, RSA 2000, c P-7, s 65 [Tab 5]

7. A court may consider the following factors in determining whether it is appropriate to appoint a receiver:

(a) whether irreparable harm might be caused if no order were made, although it is not essential for a creditor to establish irreparable harm if a receiver is not appointed, particularly where the appointment of a receiver is authorized by the security documentation;

(b) the risk to the security holder taking into consideration the size of the debtor's equity in the assets and the need for protection or safeguarding of the assets while litigation takes place;

(c) the nature of the property;

(d) the apprehended or actual waste of the debtor's assets;

(e) the preservation and protection of the property pending judicial resolution;

(f) the balance of convenience to the parties;

(g) the fact that the creditor has the right to appoint a receiver under the documentation provided for the loan;

(h) the enforcement of rights under a security instrument where the security-holder encounters or expects to encounter difficulty with the debtor and others;

(i) the principle that the appointment of a receiver is extraordinary relief which should be granted cautiously and sparingly;

(j) the consideration of whether a court appointment is necessary to enable the receiver to carry out its' duties more efficiently;

(k) the effect of the order upon the parties;

(l) the conduct of the parties;

(m) the length of time that a receiver may be in place;

(n) the cost to the parties;

(o) the likelihood of maximizing return to the parties; and

(p) the goal of facilitating the duties of the receiver.

Paragon Capital Corp. v Merchants & Traders Assurance Co., 2002 ABQB 430 at para 27 ("Paragon Capital") [Tab 6]

Lindsey Estate v Strategic Metals Corp, 2010 ABQB 242, at para 32-34 [Tab 7]

Rompsen Investment Corp v Hargate Properties Inc., 2011 ABQB 759 at para 20 [Tab 8]

8. Having regard to the factors listed in Paragon Capital, CWB notes:

(a) The Security authorizes the appointment of a receiver;

(b) The precise nature of the risk to CWB is not known because of the inaccurate financial reporting of the Borrower. However the risk to CWB is significant at approximately $3.8 million;

(c) The conduct of the Borrower as it relates to financial reporting supports the appointment of a receiver;

(d) The assets of the Borrower are such that judicial assistance will be required to maximize value;

(e) A court appointment is necessary to enable the receiver to carry out its duties efficiently and to obtain court approval for preservation of property and eventual liquidation;

(f) The appointment of a receiver would ensure court oversight and ensure consistent treatment of all stakeholders;

(g) The Borrower has not obtained refinancing to take out CWB's position; and

(h) A court appointed receiver will guarantee maximum value and a transparent process under the court's supervision.

9. The extraordinary nature of appointing a receiver and manager is less essential to the court's determination, where the security document provides for the appointment of a receiver.

Paragon Capital at para 28 [Tab 6]

10. Where there was no plan to repay any of the Borrower's indebtedness and no persuasive evidence that the appointment would cause undue hardship to the Borrower, a receiver should be appointed.

Paragon Capital at para 31 [Tab 6]

11. A creditor is not required to establish that it will suffer irreparable harm if the receiver and manager is not appointed.

Swiss Bank Corp. (Canada) v. Odyssey Industries Inc. (1995), 30 C.B.R. (3d) 49, 1995 CarswellOnt 39 (Ont. Gen. Div.) at para 28 [Tab 9]

12. In Kasten Energy Inc. v Shamrock Oil & Gas Ltd., Kasten Energy Inc. applied to this Court for the appointment of a Receiver and Manager of the Shamrock Oil & Gas Ltd.'s ("Shamrock") assets and undertaking pursuant to a security interest given in a general security agreement over all of Shamrock's present and after acquired property. The Court held that even if the applicant could not demonstrate irreparable harm in the circumstances, the security document authorized the appointment of a receiver:

> 20 The Alberta Court of Appeal notes in BG International Ltd. v. Canadian Superior Energy Inc., 2009 ABCA 127 (Alta. C.A.) at paras 16-17 that a remedial Order to appoint a Receiver "should not be lightly granted" and the chambers judge should: (i) carefully > explore whether there are other remedies, short of a receivership, that could serve to protect the interests of the applicant; (ii) carefully balance the rights of both the applicant and the respondent; and (iii) consider the effect of granting the receivership order, and if possible use a remedy short of receivership.

> 21 The security documentation in the present case authorizes the appointment of a Receiver (GSA, para 8.2). Thus, even if I accept the argument that the Applicant Kasten has not been able to demonstrate irreparable harm, that itself would not be determinative of whether or not a Receiver should be appointed in this matter. It is not essential for a creditor to establish irreparable harm if a receiver is not appointed: Paragon Capital at para 27.
> Kasten Energy Inc. v Shamrock Oil & Gas Ltd., 2013 ABQB 63, at paras 20-21 [Tab 10]

13. Given the facts set out above, it is just or equitable for the Court to grant CWB's application to appoint a receiver and manager. There are no other remedies short of the appointment of a receiver which are available to CWB which will sufficiently protect its interests. The balancing of interests of the parties favours CWB and the appointment of a receiver.

PART 4 REMEDY SOUGHT

14. CWB seeks:

(a) An Order appointing The Bowra Group Inc. as receiver and manager of the Borrower, in the form of the order presented by CWB.

(b) Costs of these proceedings.

ALL OF WHICH IS RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED at the City of Edmonton, in the Province of Alberta, this 7th day of July, 2021.

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES

absolutely or on any reasonable terms and conditions that seem just to the Court, all remedies whatsoever to which any of the parties to the proceeding may appear to be entitled in respect of any and every legal or equitable claim properly brought forward by them in the proceeding, so that as far as possible all matters in controversy between the parties can be completely determined and all multiplicity of legal proceedings concerning those matters avoided.

RSA 1980 cJ-1 s8

Province-wide jurisdiction

9 Each judge of the Court has jurisdiction throughout Alberta, and in all causes, matters and proceedings, other than those of the Court of Appeal, has and shall exercise all the powers, authorities and jurisdiction of the Court.

RSA 1980 cJ-1 s9

Part 2
Powers of the Court

Relief against forfeiture

10 Subject to appeal as in other cases, the Court has power to relieve against all penalties and forfeitures and, in granting relief, to impose any terms as to costs, expenses, damages, compensation and all other matters that the Court sees fit.

RSA 1980 cJ-1 s10

Declaration judgment

11 No proceeding is open to objection on the ground that a judgment or order sought is declaratory only, and the Court may make binding declarations of right whether or not any consequential relief is or could be claimed.

RSA 1980 cJ-1 s11

Canadian law

12 When in a proceeding in the Court the law of any province or territory is in question, evidence of that law may be given, but in the absence of or in addition to that evidence the Court may take judicial cognizance of that law in the same manner as of any law of Alberta.

RSA 1980 cJ-1 s12

Part performance

13(1) Part performance of an obligation either before or after a breach thereof shall be held to extinguish the obligation

(a) when expressly accepted by a creditor in satisfaction, or

(b) when rendered pursuant to an agreement for that purpose though without any new consideration.

(2) An order in the nature of a mandamus or injunction may be granted or a receiver appointed by an interlocutory order of the Court in all cases in which it appears to the Court to be just or convenient that the order should be made, and the order may be made either unconditionally or on any terms and conditions the Court thinks just.

RSA 1980 cJ-1 s13

Interest

14(1) In addition to the cases in which interest is payable by law or may be allowed by law, when in the opinion of the Court the payment of a just debt has been improperly withheld and it seems to the Court fair and equitable that the party in default should make compensation by the payment of interest, the Court may allow interest for the time and at the rate the Court thinks proper.

(2) Subsection (1) does not apply in respect of a cause of action that arises after March 31, 1984.

RSA 1980 cJ-1 s15;1984 cJ-0.5 s10

Equity prevails

15 In all matters in which there is any conflict or variance between the rules of equity and common law with reference to the same matter, the rules of equity prevail.

RSA 1980 cJ-1 s16

Equitable relief

16(1) If a plaintiff claims to be entitled

(a) to an equitable estate or right,

(b) to relief on an equitable ground

(i) against a deed, instrument or contract, or

(ii) against a right, title or claim whatsoever asserted by a defendant or respondent in the proceeding,

(c) to any relief founded on a legal right,

the Court shall give to the plaintiff the same relief that would be given by the High Court of Justice in England in a proceeding for the same or a like purpose.

(2) If a defendant claims to be entitled

(a) to an equitable estate or right, or

(b) to relief on an equitable ground

T.F. McMahon J.*:

1 The Plaintiff, Strategic Financial Corp. ("Strategic Financial"), applies for the appointment of a Receiver-Manager for land and a building known as the Barron Building in downtown Calgary, Alberta. The building is 11 storeys in height and is vacant but for a movie theatre which is not currently operating. The Defendant, 1402801 Alberta Ltd. ("140"), owns the land and building. When it purchased the land in 2008, it assumed a first mortgage in the principle amount of $16 million. Strategic Financial now holds that mortgage by assignment from a prior holder.

2 Both Strategic Financial and 140 are controlled by one Riaz Mamdani who is also a director of both companies. 140 is separately represented on this application and, while consenting to it, does not advocate for or against the appointment of a Receiver-Manager.

3 The application is opposed by Newel Post Developments Ltd. ("Newel Post") and 571764 Alberta Ltd. ("571"). Newel Post was the previous owner of the building. It retains an encumbrance against title pursuant to a development agreement. 571 is the lessee of the theatre premises which lease is registered against the title. Both the registered instruments of Newel Post and 571 have been postponed to the first mortgage held by Strategic Financial. There are also second and third mortgages held by companies related to Strategic Financial.

4 The first mortgage of Strategic Financial is in default and remains outstanding in the approximate amount of $14.340 million as at March 1, 2012 with interest accruing thereafter. Newel Post and 571 argued that the first mortgage may not be in default but the only evidence on this application is clear. 140 is in default in making the required interest payments as well as a $5 million dollar payment in principle due January 19, 2012. As a result of that default, Strategic Financial made demand for payment of the entire amount as it was permitted to do under the terms of the mortgage. No payment was forthcoming.

5 The uncontradicted evidence is that the theatre premises have health and safety issues including asbestos being present and an absence of an operating sprinkler system. 140 has no other assets to finance remedial work which it estimated to cost $2 million.

6 There is significant litigation between the parties which has created an effective deadlock. 571 and 140 are in litigation regarding the lease and their respective obligations under it. Newel Post and 140 are in litigation regarding the encumbrance held by Newel Post against the title. Without an injection of capital, the building will remain vacant and deteriorate. Litigation costs will continue to mount.

Respondent's position

7 The essential position of Newel Post and 571 is that the applicant Strategic Financial can not meet the just and convenient test having regard to the principles stated in authorities such as BG International Ltd. v. Canadian Superior Energy Inc., 2009 ABCA 127 (Alta. C.A.). Newel Post and 571 say that they will be damaged further by the appointment of a Receiver-Manager, though just how is not clear. The Receiver-Manager will be obliged to act in the best interests of all the interest holders so far as he is able.

8 The authorities do say that a lesser remedy should be searched for. The remedy suggested by Newel Post and 571 is that the shareholder of 140 should inject additional money into the company in order to remediate the building. However that is not an appropriate remedy, though it may be a solution. A non-party shareholder can not be compelled to inject money into a corporate litigant merely to avoid the appointment of a Receiver-Manager.

9 Newel Post and 571 then say that the land could be transferred to Strategic Financial which has the wherewithal to effect repairs. Once again, however, that's not an alternate remedy to the appointment of a Receiver-Manager.

10 A main complaint raised by 571 is that its litigation with 140, if it continues, would be funded by the Receiver-Manager who would then have a priority charge against the building. I have no evidence as to the appraised value of the land and building and so have no means of determining if such a charge would jeopardize anyone.

11 Lastly, Newel Post and 571 invite this court to pierce the corporate veil and regard the Plaintiff and the Defendant as one entity, personified by their controlling shareholder. There is in my view no basis for that approach here. There is no evidence of wrong-doing or deliberate conduct to injure the respondents, or of a shareholder treating the body corporate as though its property belongs to him personally. This is merely a case of one corporation in default in its debt to a related corporation, which is secured against the debtor's property and so is subject to enforcement.

Decision

12 The Court has jurisdiction to grant this relief pursuant to section 13(2) of the Judicature Act, RSA 2000, c J-2:

> An order in the nature of a mandamus or injunction may be granted or a receiver appointed by an interlocutory order of the Court in all cases in which it appears to the Court to be just or convenient that the order should be made, and the order may be made either unconditionally or on any terms and conditions the Court thinks just.

13 As well, the First Mortgage expressly provides for the appointment of a Receiver by article 26:

> It is declared and agreed that at any time and from time to time when there shall be default under the provisions of this mortgage, the Mortgagee may at such time and from time to time and with or without entry into possession of the Land or any part thereof, appoint a receiver or a manager or a receiver and a manager of the Land or any part thereof and of the rents and profits thereof and with or without security, and may from time to time remove any receiver and appoint another in his stead and that, in making any such appointment or removal, the Mortgagee shall be deemed to be acting as the agent or attorney for the Mortgagor. Such appointment may be made at any time either before or after the Mortgagee shall have entered into or taken possession of the Land or any part hereof.

14 The Alberta Court of Appeal addressed the issues in BG International at para. 17:

> In particular, the chambers judge must carefully balance the rights of both the applicant and the respondent. The mere appointment of a receiver can have devastating effects. The respondent referred us to the statement in Swiss Bank Corp. (Canada) v. Odyssey Industries Inc. (1995), 30 C.B.R. (3d) 49 (Ont. C.J. G.D.) at para. 31:

> [31] With respect to the hardship to Odyssey and Weston should a receiver be appointed, I am unable to find any evidence of undue or extreme hardship. Obviously the appointment of a receiver always causes hardship to the debtor in that the debtor loses control of its assets and business and may risk having its assets and business sold. The situation in this case is no different.

This quotation does not reflect the law of Alberta. Under the Judicature Act, it must be "just and convenient" to grant a receivership order. Justice and convenience can only be established by considering and balancing the position of both parties. The onus is on the applicant. The respondent does not have to prove any special hardship, much less "undue hardship" to resist such an application. The effect of the mere granting of the receivership order must always be considered, and if possible a remedy short of receivership should be used.

15 Some of the factors to consider in the appointment of a Receiver have been collected and repeated by this Court in Paragon Capital Corp. v. Merchants & Traders Assurance Co., 2002 ABQB 430 (Alta. Q.B.).

16 On the evidence before me, the disrepaired state of the building and the ongoing litigation between the interest holders strongly supports the need for a Receiver-Manager to protect and preserve the building until further court order. All those issues must be resolved before the building's value can be enhanced so the interest holders can maximize their return. It is therefore just and convenient that a Receiver-Manager be appointed to protect and preserve the property in question until further court order. The Receiver-Manager will have security for its fees and disbursements and monies properly borrowed in the course of the receivership. The parties may apply within 15 days to address the specific terms of the order if need be. Costs may also be addressed.

Application granted.

Audit of proceedings

241 The accounts of every clerk that relate to proceedings under this Part are subject to audit in the same manner as if the accounts were the accounts of a provincial officer.

R.S., c. B-3, s. 212.

Application of this Part

242 (1) The Governor in Council shall, at the request of the lieutenant governor in council of a province, declare, by order, that this Part applies or ceases to apply, as the case may be, in respect of the province.

Automatic application

(2) Subject to an order being made under subsection (1) declaring that this Part ceases to apply in respect of a province, if this Part is in force in the province immediately before that subsection comes into force, this Part applies in respect of the province.

R.S., 1985, c. B-3, s. 242; 2002, c. 7, s. 85; 2007, c. 36, s. 57.

PART XI

Secured Creditors and Receivers

Court may appoint receiver

243 (1) Subject to subsection (1.1), on application by a secured creditor, a court may appoint a receiver to do any or all of the following if it considers it to be just or convenient to do so:

(a) take possession of all or substantially all of the inventory, accounts receivable or other property of an insolvent person or bankrupt that was acquired for or used in relation to a business carried on by the insolvent person or bankrupt;

(b) exercise any control that the court considers advisable over that property and over the insolvent person's or bankrupt's business; or

(c) take any other action that the court considers advisable.

Restriction on appointment of receiver

(1.1) In the case of an insolvent person in respect of whose property a notice is to be sent under subsection 244(1), the court may not appoint a receiver under subsection (1) before the expiry of 10 days after the day on which the secured creditor sends the notice unless

Vérification des comptes

241 Les comptes de chaque greffier, relatifs aux procédures prévues par la présente partie, sont sujets à vérification de la même manière que s'ils étaient les comptes d'un fonctionnaire provincial.

S.R., ch. B-3, art. 212.

Application

242 (1) À la demande du lieutenant-gouverneur en conseil d'une province, le gouverneur en conseil déclare par décret que la présente partie commence à s'appliquer ou cesse de s'appliquer, selon le cas, dans la province en question.

Application automatique

(2) Sous réserve d'une éventuelle déclaration faite en vertu du paragraphe (1) indiquant qu'elle cesse de s'appliquer à la province en cause, la présente partie s'applique à toute province dans laquelle elle était en vigueur à l'entrée en vigueur de ce paragraphe.

Créanciers garantis et séquestres

Nomination d'un séquestre

243 (1) Sous réserve du paragraphe (1.1), sur demande d'un créancier garanti, le tribunal peut, s'il est convaincu que cela est juste ou opportun, nommer un séquestre qu'il habilite :

a) à prendre possession de la totalité ou de la quasi-totalité des biens — notamment des stocks et comptes à recevoir — qu'une personne insolvable ou un failli a acquis ou utilisés dans le cadre de ses affaires;

b) à exercer sur ces biens ainsi que sur les affaires de la personne insolvable ou du failli le degré de prise en charge qu'il estime indiqué;

c) à prendre toute autre mesure qu'il estime indiquée.

Restriction relative à la nomination d'un séquestre

(1.1) Dans le cas d'une personne insolvable dont les biens sont visés par le préavis qui doit être donné par le créancier garanti aux termes du paragraphe 244(1), le tribunal ne peut faire la nomination avant l'expiration d'un délai de dix jours après l'envoi de ce préavis, à moins :

(a) the insolvent person consents to an earlier enforcement under subsection 244(2); or

(b) the court considers it appropriate to appoint a receiver before then.

a) que la personne insolvable ne consente, aux termes du paragraphe 244(2), à l'exécution de la garantie à une date plus rapprochée;

b) qu'il soit indiqué, selon lui, de nommer un séquestre à une date plus rapprochée.

Definition of receiver

(2) Subject to subsections (3) and (4), in this Part, receiver means a person who

(a) is appointed under subsection (1); or

(b) is appointed to take or takes possession or control — of all or substantially all of the inventory, accounts receivable or other property of an insolvent person or bankrupt that was acquired for or used in relation to a business carried on by the insolvent person or bankrupt — under

(i) an agreement under which property becomes subject to a security (in this Part referred to as a "security agreement"), or

(ii) a court order made under another Act of Parliament, or an Act of a legislature of a province, that provides for or authorizes the appointment of a receiver or receiver-manager.

Définition de séquestre

(2) Dans la présente partie, mais sous réserve des paragraphes (3) et (4), séquestre s'entend de toute personne qui :

a) soit est nommée en vertu du paragraphe (1);

b) soit est nommément habilitée à prendre — ou a pris — en sa possession ou sous sa responsabilité, aux termes d'un contrat créant une garantie sur des biens, appelé « contrat de garantie » dans la présente partie, ou aux termes d'une ordonnance rendue sous le régime de toute autre loi fédérale ou provinciale prévoyant ou autorisant la nomination d'un séquestre ou d'un séquestre-gérant, la totalité ou la quasi-totalité des biens — notamment des stocks et comptes à recevoir — qu'une personne insolvable ou un failli a acquis ou utilisés dans le cadre de ses affaires.

Definition of receiver — subsection 248(2)

(3) For the purposes of subsection 248(2), the definition receiver in subsection (2) is to be read without reference to paragraph (a) or subparagraph (b)(ii).

Définition de séquestre — paragraphe 248(2)

(3) Pour l'application du paragraphe 248(2), la définition de séquestre, au paragraphe (2), s'interprète sans égard à l'alinéa a) et aux mots « ou aux termes d'une ordonnance rendue sous le régime de toute autre loi fédérale ou provinciale prévoyant ou autorisant la nomination d'un séquestre ou d'un séquestre-gérant ».

Trustee to be appointed

(4) Only a trustee may be appointed under subsection (1) or under an agreement or order referred to in paragraph (2)(b).

Syndic

(4) Seul un syndic peut être nommé en vertu du paragraphe (1) ou être habilité aux termes d'un contrat ou d'une ordonnance mentionné à l'alinéa (2)b).

Place of filing

(5) The application is to be filed in a court having jurisdiction in the judicial district of the locality of the debtor.

Lieu du dépôt

(5) La demande de nomination est déposée auprès du tribunal compétent dans le district judiciaire de la localité du débiteur.

Orders respecting fees and disbursements

(6) If a receiver is appointed under subsection (1), the court may make any order respecting the payment of fees and disbursements of the receiver that it considers proper, including one that gives the receiver a charge, ranking ahead of any or all of the secured creditors, over all or part of the property of the insolvent person or bankrupt in respect of the receiver's claim for fees or

Advance notice

244 (1) A secured creditor who intends to enforce a security on all or substantially all of

(a) the inventory,

(b) the accounts receivable, or

(c) the other property of an insolvent person that was acquired for, or is used in relation to, a business carried on by the insolvent person shall send to that insolvent person, in the prescribed form and manner, a notice of that intention.

Préavis

244 (1) Le créancier garanti qui se propose de mettre à exécution une garantie portant sur la totalité ou la quasi-totalité du stock, des comptes recevables ou des autres biens d'une personne insolvable acquis ou utilisés dans le cadre des affaires de cette dernière doit lui en donner préavis en la forme et de la manière prescrites.

Period of notice

(2) Where a notice is required to be sent under subsection (1), the secured creditor shall not enforce the security in respect of which the notice is required until the expiry of ten days after sending that notice, unless the insolvent person consents to an earlier enforcement of the security.

Délai

(2) Dans les cas où un préavis est requis aux termes du paragraphe (1), le créancier garanti ne peut, avant l'expiration d'un délai de dix jours suivant l'envoi du préavis, mettre à exécution la garantie visée par le préavis, à moins que la personne insolvable ne consente à une exécution à une date plus rapprochée.

No advance consent

(2.1) For the purposes of subsection (2), consent to earlier enforcement of a security may not be obtained by a secured creditor prior to the sending of the notice referred to in subsection (1).

Préavis

(2.1) Pour l'application du paragraphe (2), le créancier garanti ne peut obtenir le consentement visé par le paragraphe avant l'envoi du préavis visé au paragraphe (1).

Exception

(3) This section does not apply, or ceases to apply, in respect of a secured creditor

(a) whose right to realize or otherwise deal with his security is protected by subsection 69.1(5) or (6); or

(b) in respect of whom a stay under sections 69 to 69.2 has been lifted pursuant to section 69.4.

Non-application du présent article

(3) Le présent article ne s'applique pas, ou cesse de s'appliquer, au créancier garanti dont le droit de réaliser sa garantie ou d'effectuer toute autre opération, relativement à celle-ci est protégé aux termes du paragraphe 69.1(5) ou (6), ou à l'égard de qui a été levée, aux termes de l'article 69.4, la suspension prévue aux articles 69 à 69.2.

Powers of the Court

99 On an application by a receiver or receiver-manager, whether appointed by the Court or under an instrument, or on an application by any interested person, the Court may make any order it thinks fit including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, any or all of the following:

(a) an order appointing, replacing or discharging a receiver or receiver-manager and approving the receiver's or receiver-manager's accounts;

(b) an order determining the notice to be given to any person or dispensing with notice to any person;

(c) an order fixing the remuneration of the receiver or receiver-manager;

(d) an order

(i) requiring the receiver or receiver-manager, or a person by or on behalf of whom the receiver or receiver-manager is appointed, to make good any default in connection with the receiver's or receiver-manager's custody or management of the property and business of the corporation;

(ii) relieving any of those persons from any default on any terms the Court thinks fit;

(iii) confirming any act of the receiver or receiver-manager;

(e) an order that the receiver or receiver-manager make available to the applicant any information from the accounts of the receiver's or receiver-manager's administration that the Court specifies;

(f) an order giving directions on any matter relating to the duties of the receiver or receiver-manager.

1981 cB-15 s95;1987 c15 s9

Duties of receiver and receiver-manager

100 A receiver or receiver-manager shall

(a) immediately notify the Registrar of the receiver's or receiver-manager's appointment or discharge,

(b) take into the receiver's or receiver-manager's custody and control the property of the corporation in accordance with the Court order or instrument under which the receiver or receiver-manager is appointed,

(b) more than twice in each year, if the security agreement or any agreement modifying the security agreement provides for payment by the debtor during a period of time in excess of one year after the day value was given by the secured party.

1988 cP-4.05 s63

Application to Court

64 On application by a debtor, a creditor of a debtor, a secured party or a sheriff, civil enforcement agency or a person with an interest in the collateral, the Court may

(a) make any order, including a binding declaration of right and injunctive relief, that is necessary to ensure compliance with this Part or section 17, 36, 37 or 38,

(b) give directions to any person regarding the exercise of the person's rights or discharge of the person's obligations under this Part or section 17, 36, 37 or 38,

(c) relieve any person from compliance with the requirements of this Part or section 17, 36, 37 or 38,

(d) stay enforcement of rights provided in this Part or section 17, 36, 37 or 38, or

(e) make any order, including a binding declaration of right and injunctive relief, that is necessary to ensure protection of the interests of any person in the collateral.

Receiver

65(1) A security agreement may provide for the appointment of a receiver and, except as provided in this or any other Act, the receiver's rights and duties.

(2) A receiver shall

(a) take the collateral into the receiver's custody and control in accordance with the security agreement or order under which the receiver is appointed, but unless appointed a receiver-manager or unless the Court orders otherwise, shall not carry on the business of the debtor,

(b) where the debtor is a corporation, immediately notify the Registrar of Corporations of the receiver's appointment or discharge,

(c) open and maintain a bank account in the receiver's name as receiver for the deposit of all money coming under the receiver's control as a receiver,

(d) keep detailed records, in accordance with accepted accounting practices, of all receipts, expenditures and transactions involving collateral or other property of the debtor,

(e) prepare at least once in every 6-month period after the date of the receiver's appointment financial statements of the receiver's administration that, as far as is practical, are in the form required by section 155 of the Business Corporations Act, and

(f) on completion of the receiver's duties, render a final account of the receiver's administration in the form referred to in clause (e), and, where the debtor is a corporation, send copies of the final account to the debtor, the directors of the debtor and to the Registrar of Corporations.

(3) The debtor, and where the debtor is a corporation, a director of the debtor, or the authorized representative of any of them, may, by a demand in writing given to the receiver, require the receiver to make available for inspection the records referred to in subsection (2)(d) during regular business hours at the place of business of the receiver in the Province.

(4) The debtor, and where the debtor is a corporation, a director of the debtor, a sheriff, civil enforcement agency, a person with an interest in the collateral in the custody or control of the receiver, or the authorized representative of any of them, may, by a demand in writing given to the receiver, require the receiver to provide copies of the financial statements referred to in subsection (2)(e) or the final account referred to in subsection (2)(f) or make available those financial statements or that final account for inspection during regular business hours at the place of business of the receiver in the Province.

(5) The receiver shall comply with the demands referred to in subsection (3) or (4) not later than 10 days from the date of receipt of the demand.

(6) The receiver may require the payment in advance of a fee in the amount prescribed for each demand made under subsection (4), but the sheriff and the debtor, or in the case of an incorporated debtor, a director of the debtor, are entitled to inspect or to receive a copy of the financial statements and final account without charge.

(7) On the application of any interested person, the Court may

(a) appoint a receiver;

(b) remove, replace or discharge a receiver whether appointed by the Court or pursuant to a security agreement;

(c) give directions on any matter relating to the duties of a receiver;

(d) approve the accounts and fix the remuneration of a receiver;

(e) exercise with respect to a receiver appointed under a security agreement the jurisdiction it has with respect to a receiver appointed by the Court;

(f) notwithstanding anything contained in a security agreement or other document providing for the appointment of a receiver, make an order requiring a receiver or a person by or on behalf of whom the receiver is appointed, to make good any default in connection with the receiver's custody, management or disposition of the collateral of the debtor or to relieve that person from any default or failure to comply with this Part.

(8) The powers referred to in subsection (7) and in section 64 are in addition to any other powers the Court may exercise in its jurisdiction over receivers.

(9) Unless the Court orders otherwise, a receiver is required to comply with sections 60 and 61 only when the receiver disposes of collateral other than in the course of carrying on the business of the debtor.

Part 6
Miscellaneous

Proper exercise of rights, duties and obligations

66(1) All rights, duties or obligations arising under a security agreement, under this Act or under any other applicable law shall be exercised or discharged in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner.

(2) A person does not act in bad faith merely because the person acts with knowledge of the interest of some other person.

Annotation

This decision canvasses the difficult issue of the appropriateness of granting ex parte court orders in an insolvency context. Specifically, the facts of this case revolve around the proper exercise of Romaine J.'s jurisdiction pursuant to Rule 387 of the Alberta Rules of Court [1] to grant an ex parte, without notice, order appointing a receiver over the assets of two debtor companies. This rule provides that an order can be made on an ex parte basis in cases where the evidence indicates "serious mischief". Such jurisdiction is also granted to courts in Ontario [2] and in the context of interim receivership orders under the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act. [3] The guiding principles that govern the granting of ex parte orders generally were summarized in B. (M.A.), Re [4] where it was concluded that the court's discretion to grant such orders should only be exercised in cases where it is found that an emergency exists and where full disclosure has been provided to the court by the applicant. It is generally considered that an emergency is a circumstance where the consequences that the applicant is attempting to avoid are immediate [5] and that such consequences would have irreparable harm. [6] Insolvency situations are, by their very nature, crisis oriented. Debtors and creditors alike are typically faced with urgent circumstances and must move quickly to preserve value for all stakeholders. The special circumstances encountered in insolvency proceedings have been acknowledged by the Ontario Court of Appeal in Algoma Steel Inc., Re [7] where it was recognized that ex parte court orders and the lack of adequate notice is often justified in an insolvency context due to the often "urgent, complex and dynamic" nature of the proceedings. However, there is nonetheless a recognition that despite the "real time" nature of insolvency proceedings, the remedy of appointing a receiver is so drastic that doing so without notice to the debtor is to be considered only in extreme cases. In Royal Bank v. W. Got & Associates Electric Ltd., [8] the Alberta Court of Appeal cited the following passage from Huggins v. Green Top Dairy Farms [9] with approval:

Appointment of a receiver is a drastic remedy, and while an application for a receiver is addressed in the first instance to the discretion of the court, the appointment ex parte and without notice to take over one's property, or property which is prima facie his, is one of the most drastic actions known to law or equity. It should be exercised with extreme caution and only where emergency or imperative necessity requires it. Except in extreme cases and where the necessity is plainly shown, a court of equity has no power or right to condemn a man unheard, and to dispossess him of property prima facie his and hand the same over to another on an ex parte claim.

The courts in Ontario have also been mindful of this need to be extra vigilant in granting ex parte orders in an insolvency context. It is generally recognized that in cases where rights are being displaced or affected, short of urgency, applicants should be given advance notice. In Royal Oak Mines Inc., Re, [10] Farley J. stated the following:

I appreciate that everyone is under immense pressure and have concerns in a CCAA application. However, as much advance notice as possible should be given to all interested parties ... At a minimum, absent an emergency, there should be enough time to digest material, consult with one's client and discuss the matter with those allied in interest — and also helpfully with those opposed in interest so as to see if a compromise can be negotiated ... I am not talking of a leisurely process over weeks here; but I am talking of the necessary few days in which the dedicated practitioners in this field have traditionally responded. Frequently those who do not have familiarity with real time litigation have difficulty appreciating that, in order to preserve value for everyone involved, Herculean tasks have to be successfully completed in head spinning short times. All the same everyone is entitled the opportunity to advance their interests. This too is a balancing question.

In light of this balancing of interests, the practice in Ontario has developed to a point that, short of exceptional circumstances, the parties affected by the applicant's proposed order, whether an order pursuant to Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act [11] or receivership orders, are typically given some advance notice of the pending application. This is particularly true in cases where there is a known solicitor of record for the interested party. In the present case, it is difficult to say whether sufficient and adequate evidence was proffered to demonstrate that urgent circumstances and a real risk of dissipation of assets existed. As Romaine J. indicated in her reasons, "...it [was] regrettable that the application did not take place in open chambers so that a record would be available." [12] Accordingly, in such circumstances, deference is accorded to the trier of fact. Romaine J. was in the best position to determine whether the test to grant an ex parte receivership order was met. Also, it is not clear from Romaine J.'s reasons why given the existence of a solicitor of record for the debtors that prior notice, of any kind, was not given to the debtors in this case. The granting of a receivership order is a serious remedy and those subject to it should, to the extent possible, have a right to due process.

INTRODUCTION

1 On March 20, 2001, I granted an ex parte order appointing a receiver and manager of the property and assets of Merchants & Traders Assurance Company ("MTAC") and 586335 British Columbia Ltd. ("586335"), including certain assets pledged by MTAC and 586335 to Paragon Capital Corporation Ltd. MTAC, 586335 and the other defendants in this action brought an application to set aside this ex parte order. I declined to set aside, vary or stay the ex parte order and these are my written reasons for that decision.

SUMMARY

2 The ex parte order should not be set aside on any of the grounds submitted by the Defendants, including an alleged failure to establish emergent circumstances, a lack of candour or any kind of non-disclosure or misleading disclosure by Paragon. Hearing the motion to appoint a receiver and manager de novo, I am satisfied that the receivership should continue on the terms originally ordered, and that the Defendants have not established that a stay of that receivership should be granted.

FACTS

3 On March 15, 2000, Paragon loaned MTAC $2.4 million. The loan was for a term of six months with an interest rate of 3% per month, and matured on September 15, 2000. MTAC was to make interest-only payments to Paragon in the amount of $72,000.00 per month.

4 The purpose of the loan was to allow MTAC to acquire 76% of the shares of Georgia Pacific Securities Corporation ("Georgia Pacific"), a Vancouver-based brokerage business. That transaction was completed. As security for the loan, MTAC pledged the following:

a) an assignment of all of the property of MTAC and 586335, including the Georgia Pacific shares;

b) a general hypothecation of the shares of Georgia Pacific owned by MTAC;

c) a power of attorney granted by MTAC to Paragon appointing an agent of Paragon to be the attorney of MTAC with the right to sell and dispose of any shares held by MTAC;

d) an assignment of mortgage-backed debentures;

e) an assignment of a $200,000 US term deposit, which was stated to be held in the trust account of a lawyer by the name of Jamie Patterson;

f) $250,000 to be held in trust by Paragon's counsel; and

g) $986,000 in an Investment Cash Account at Georgia Pacific.

Paragon filed a General Security Agreement executed by MTAC by way of a financing statement at the Personal Property Registry on March 15, 2000. In addition, Paragon obtained personal guarantees of the loan from Garry Tighe, Insurcom Financial Corporation, 586335 and 782640 Alberta Ltd.

5 The loan was not repaid and, pursuant to the terms of the General Security Agreement, Paragon appointed a private receiver in January, 2001.

6 Subsequently, the parties entered into discussions resulting in a written Extension Agreement. The Extension Agreement acknowledged the balance outstanding under the loan on January 9, 2001 of $2,629,129.99 with a then per diem rate of $2,528.28 and acknowledged delivery of numerous demands and a Notice of Intention to Enforce Security pursuant to Section 244 of the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act, R.S.C. 1985, c.B-3, as amended

7 MTAC agreed pursuant to the Extension Agreement that all monies due and outstanding would be repaid by February 22, 2001. If the funds were not repaid, Paragon would be at liberty to enforce its security and take all steps it deemed necessary to collect the debt. MTAC agreed it would not oppose Paragon's realization of its security, including the appointment of a receiver over its assets, and that it would, if requested, work with Paragon and any person designated by Paragon to attempt to realize on the value of the Georgia Pacific shares in a commercially reasonable manner.

8 Pursuant to the terms of the Extension Agreement, the shares of Georgia Pacific owned by MTAC were delivered to counsel for Paragon.

9 It was also a term of the Extension Agreement that a discontinuance of the pending action would be filed and the appointment of the private receiver would be revoked. Both of these actions were undertaken by Paragon.

10 The loan was not repaid by February 22, 2001. As of June 26, 2001, $2,850,192.62 was outstanding. Paragon issued a new Statement of Claim on March 2, 2001. On March 16, 2001 counsel for MTAC, Insurcom, 782640, 586335, and Tighe filed a Statement of Defence and served it upon Paragon's counsel.

11 On March 20, 2001, Paragon applied for and was granted an ex parte order appointing Hudson & Company as receiver and manager of all of the assets and property of MTAC and 586335, including, specifically, the mortgage-backed debentures, $986,000 in a cash account, $200,000 in trust with a lawyer, the $250,000 paid to Paragon's counsel and the Georgia Pacific shares. The application was made in private chambers, and no court reporter was present. However, counsel for Paragon made his application based on affidavit evidence of Mr. Hudson and others and supported by a written "Bench Brief", all of which has been disclosed to the Defendants. All of the above-noted facts and additional information contained in the affidavits and Bench Brief were disclosed to me at the time of the ex parte application.

Should the ex parte receivership order have been granted?

12 Rule 387 of the Alberta Rules of Court provides that the court may make an ex parte order if it is satisfied that the delay caused by proceeding by notice of motion might entail serious mischief. The applicant must act in good faith and make full, fair, and candid disclosure of the facts, including those that are adverse to his position: Hover v. Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. (1999), 237 A.R. 30 (Alta. C.A.) at paragraph 23, referring to Royal Bank v. W. Got & Associates Electric Ltd. (1994), 150 A.R. 93 (Alta. Q.B.), at 102-3; (1997), 196 A.R. 241 (Alta. C.A.); leave to appeal granted (S.C.C.).

13 The Defendants submit that there was no urgency requiring an ex parte application. There was, however, affidavit evidence that led me to believe that the assets of MTAC and 586335 that had been pledged as security for the loan to Paragon were at risk, and that mischief could occur if an ex parte order was not granted.

14 There was, by way of example, evidence that the mortgage-backed debentures were not what they seemed.

15 There was evidence that Mr. Hudson had been advised by Mr. Tighe that his intention was to pay out the Paragon loan by transactions involving Georgia Pacific. Without elaborating on the status of Georgia Pacific at the time, as it is not a party to this litigation, the evidence with respect to potential activities involving this company was troubling, and justified a concern that the shares that comprised this asset may be at risk.

16 Further, Mr. Hudson deposed that Mr. Tighe was at first agreeable to Mr. Hudson and Paragon's counsel speaking to various parties, including officers of Georgia Pacific and Deloitte & Touche, to gather information. However, he withdrew that consent when Mr. Hudson and Paragon's counsel were actually in Vancouver, intending to speak to those parties.

17 There were also concerns arising over whether or not there actually was $200,000 held in trust by Mr. Patterson, who had ceased practising law and left the country.

18 There was evidence that the shares of Insurcom Financial Corporation, one of the guarantors of the Paragon loan, had been halted in trading and that the $986,000 that was supposed to be held in a Georgia Pacific cash account as security for the Paragon loan was missing.

19 The Defendants also submit that Paragon and its counsel and the proposed receiver failed to be candid and make full disclosure of the facts in the application. However, it is clear from the affidavits filed and from the Bench Brief that the disclosure given at the time of the ex parte order was extensive. It included reference to the fact that the proposed receiver, Mr. Hudson, had previously been appointed a private receiver for Paragon under the loan documentation, and that he and Paragon's counsel had been involved in negotiating and finalizing the Extension Agreement. In addition, counsel to Paragon disclosed that a defence to the Statement of Claim had been filed by counsel for the Defendants, and described the nature of the defences. I cannot find that there was any breach by the applicant for the ex parte order of its obligation of candour and frankness.

20 In hindsight, it is regrettable that the application did not take place in open chambers so that a record would be available. However, on the basis of the strength of the evidence before me, including evidence of the loan documentation and events that had transpired since the loan was put in place, together with the extensive affidavits and Bench Brief, I was satisfied that there was a reasonable basis on which I could hear the application on an ex parte basis. I was satisfied that there was reasonable apprehension of serious mischief and risk of disappearance or dissipation of assets. These concerns included the concern of interference with the activities of a regulated firm in a sensitive industry, where third party rights may well be affected. I therefore chose to exercise my discretion to grant the order ex parte, as is "within the prerogative of a judge to do in Alberta under our rules": Canadian Urban Equities Ltd. v. Direct Action for Life, [1990] A.J. No. 253 (Alta. Q.B.) at pages 7 and 8.

21 The ex parte order contains the usual provision allowing any party to apply on two clear days notice for a further or other order. The Defendants' right to bring their position before the court on very short notice was therefore reasonably protected. The Notices of Motion seeking orders to set aside or stay the ex parte order were not filed until May 8, 2001, and the motions were heard on their merits at the earliest time available to counsel to the parties and the court.

Should the receiver and manager appointed under the ex parte order been precluded from acting in this case due to conflict?

22 This issue is moot, given that on June 8, 2001 an order was granted replacing Hudson & Company as receiver and manager with Richter Allen and Taylor Inc. This was done with the consent of all parties other than the Defendants, who objected to the replacement, while continuing to maintain that Hudson & Company had a conflict. The Defendants make the same complaint about counsel to the former receiver and manager, who did not continue as counsel for the new receiver.

23 Despite the complaint of conflict of interest, the Defendants have not raised any evidence that the former receiver and manager or its counsel preferred Paragon to other creditors, or failed in a receiver's duty as a fiduciary or its duty of care, other than to submit that the receiver should not have been granted the power in the ex parte order to sell the assets covered by the order. This power of sale was, of course, subject to court approval, and also subject to review at the time the application was heard on its merits. It was not exercised during the time the ex parte order was in place, and representations were heard on its propriety for inclusion in the affirmed receivership order. While there may have been a potential for conflict in Hudson & Company's appointment, there is no evidence that Hudson & Company showed any undue preference to Paragon while serving as a receiver, or failed in its duties as receiver in any way.

24 The Defendants also submit that the Bench Brief used by Paragon's counsel in making the application for the ex parte order showed that such counsel was not impartial, but acted as an advocate on this application. Paragon's counsel did indeed advocate that a receiver should be appointed by the court, as he was retained to do, and there was nothing improper in him doing so. I have already said that full disclosure was made of the material facts in that application, including the previous involvement of both the proposed receiver and Paragon's counsel in this matter.

25 I therefore find that there was nothing wrong or improper in the appointment of Hudson & Company as receiver or in Paragon's previous counsel acting as receiver's counsel, or in their administration of the receivership. It may be preferable to avoid an appearance of conflict in these situations, but a finding of conflict or improper preference requires more than just the appearance of it. In situations where it is highly possible that the creditors will not be paid out in full, the use of a party already familiar with the facts to act as receiver may be attractive to all creditors. I note that it is not the creditors who raise the issue of conflict in this case, but the debtors.

Should the ex parte order now be set aside?

26 The general rule is that when an application to set aside an ex parte order is made, the reviewing court should hear the motion de novo as to both the law and the facts involved. Even if the order should not have been granted ex parte, which is not the case here, I may refuse to set it aside if from the material I am of the view that the application would have succeeded on notice: Edmonton Northlands v. Edmonton Oilers Hockey Corp. (1993), 15 Alta. L.R. (3d) 179 (Alta. Q.B.) (paragraphs 30 and 31).

27 The factors a court may consider in determining whether it is appropriate to appoint a receiver include the following:

> a) whether irreparable harm might be caused if no order were made, although it is not essential for a creditor to establish irreparable harm if a receiver is not appointed, particularly where the appointment of a receiver is authorized by the security documentation;
>
> b) the risk to the security holder taking into consideration the size of the debtor's equity in the assets and the need for protection or safeguarding of the assets while litigation takes place;
>
> c) the nature of the property;

d) the apprehended or actual waste of the debtor's assets;

e) the preservation and protection of the property pending judicial resolution;

f) the balance of convenience to the parties;

g) the fact that the creditor has the right to appoint a receiver under the documentation provided for the loan;

h) the enforcement of rights under a security instrument where the security-holder encounters or expects to encounter difficulty with the debtor and others;

i) the principle that the appointment of a receiver is extraordinary relief which should be granted cautiously and sparingly;

j) the consideration of whether a court appointment is necessary to enable the receiver to carry out its' duties more efficiently;

k) the effect of the order upon the parties;

l) the conduct of the parties;

m) the length of time that a receiver may be in place;

n) the cost to the parties;

o) the likelihood of maximizing return to the parties;

p) the goal of facilitating the duties of the receiver.

Bennett, Frank, Bennett on Receiverships, 2nd edition, (1995), Thompson Canada Ltd., page 130 (cited from various cases)

28 In cases where the security documentation provides for the appointment of a receiver, which is the case here with respect to the General Security Agreement and the Extension Agreement, the extraordinary nature of the remedy sought is less essential to the inquiry: Bank of Nova Scotia v. Freure Village on Clair Creek, [1996] O.J. No. 5088 (Ont. Gen. Div. [Commercial List]), paragraph 12.

29 It appears from the evidence before me that the Georgia Pacific shares may be the only asset of real value pledged on this loan. Shares are by their nature vulnerable assets. These shares are in a business that is itself highly sensitive to variations in value. At the time of the application, the business appeared to have been suffering certain financial constraints. The business is situated in British Columbia, and regulated by the Investment Dealers Association of Canada and other entities, giving additional force to the argument of the necessity of a court-appointed receiver. I also note the possibility that there will be a sizeable deficiency in relation to the loan, increasing the risk to Paragon as security holder.

30 The conduct of Mr. Tighe, the primary representative of the Defendants, supports the appointment of a receiver. Although the Defendants submit that the assets that are the subject of the order are secure, there is troubling evidence that the mortgage-backed debentures appear to have questionable value, that the $200,000 that was supposed to be in Mr. Patterson's trust account does not exist, that the Georgia Pacific cash account that was supposed to contain $986,000 is not actually a cash account at all, but rather a trading account. Mr. Tighe's affidavits and cross-examination on affidavits do little to clear-up these matters, and instead add to the apprehension that these assets are of less value than represented to Paragon or that they in fact do not exist.

31 The balance of convenience in these circumstances rests with Paragon, which is owed nearly $3 million. There is no plan to repay any of this indebtedness, and no persuasive evidence that the appointment would cause undue hardship to the Defendants. As stated by Ground, J. in Swiss Bank Corp. (Canada) v. Odyssey Industries Inc., [1995] O.J. No. 144 (Ont. Gen.

Div. [Commercial List]) at paragraph 31, the appointment of a receiver always causes some hardship to a debtor who loses control of its assets and risks their sale. Undue hardship that would prevent the appointment of a receiver must be more than this usual unfortunate consequence. Here, any proposed sale of an asset by the receiver must be brought before the court for approval and its propriety and necessity will be fully canvassed on its merits.

32 I am satisfied that the order appointing a receiver and manager should continue to stand on the same terms as the initial order.

Should the order be stayed?

33 To be granted a stay of an order pending appeal, an applicant must establish:

> a) that there is a serious issue to be tried on appeal;
>
> b) that the applicant would suffer irreparable harm and no fair or reasonable redress would be available if the stay is not granted; and > c) that the balance of convenience is in favour of granting the stay after taking into consideration all of the relevant factors.

RJR-MacDonald Inc. v Canada (Attorney General) (1994), [1994] S.C.J. No. 17 (S.C.C.); Schacher v. National Bailiff Services, [1999] A.J. No. 599 (Alta. Q.B.).

34 On the issue of whether there is a serious issue to be tried, the Defendants have filed a defence to the claim raising several issues, the major one being that the effective rate of interest under the loan exceeds 60% and is therefore usurious. Affidavit evidence purporting to indicate such an illegal rate of interest was filed and served on Paragon the day before this application was heard. Counsel for Paragon submitted that the evidence is defective on its face, but I was not able to make a determination of that question on the basis of the sworn evidence before me. Another factor affecting this issue is that Paragon has brought an application for summary judgment, which had not been heard at the time of this application. Given my decision on the second and third parts of the test, I have assumed that there is a triable issue relating to the loan and, therefore, to the appointment of a receiver, despite the uncertainty existing at the time of the application.

35 With respect to irreparable harm, the Defendants submit that company assets are being tied up while the order is in force, and that therefore no payments are being made, allowing liabilities to inflate. The main assets that are the subject of this order are assets that were already pledged as security for the loan to Paragon and therefore no irreparable harm can be said to arise from this factor. The Defendants also submit that irreparable harm has been, and continues to be done to, Georgia Pacific's assets as a result of the order. The order affects only the Defendants' shares in George Pacific, and counsel for the Defendants does not represent Georgia Pacific. No objection to the order has been taken by Georgia Pacific itself, although management for Georgia Pacific is aware of the receivership. There is no evidence that the order is responsible for any harm to Georgia Pacific, aside from harm that may have arisen from the Defendants' precarious financial situation and the current status of this regulated business with the IDA.

36 The balance of convenience in this case favours Paragon. The only asset that appears to have any real value at this stage in the proceedings is the shares in Georgia Pacific, an asset that is vulnerable by its nature, in a highly regulated business carried on in another jurisdiction. The order serves to maintain the status quo of that asset and prevent mischief caused by the possibility of illegal or imprudent manipulation or interference with the affairs of Georgia Pacific.

37 Finally, the Defendants submit that, if a stay is not granted, the order be varied to maintain the status quo of the three major assets. By requiring court approval of a sale of any of the assets, the right of the Defendants to argue their position on a sale at an appropriate time is reasonably protected.

38 I therefore decline to grant a stay, or to vary the order as granted.

39 If the parties are unable to agree on the matter of costs, they may be spoken to.

Application dismissed.

Introduction

1 This is another episode in the efforts of the Applicants (and others) to attempt to locate and salvage assets acquired by a number of the Respondents using monies obtained from the Applicants and other investors.

2 On September 25, 2008, I appointed Michael J. Quilling as Receiver of Strategic Metals Corp. ("Strategic"). The Applicants now seek to have the same Receiver appointed over the assets and undertakings of The Institute for Financial Learning, Group of Companies Inc. ("IFFL"), Arbour Energy Inc. ("Arbour"), Merendon Mining Corporation Ltd. ("MMCL") and Syndicated Gold Depository S.A. ("SGD"). In addition, the Applicants seek an order granting the Receiver an Attachment Order or Mereva Injunction against Gary Sorenson ("Sorenson").

3 Mr. Quilling is appointed Receiver over all of the above named companies.

4 Mr. Quilling is granted an Attachment Order against Mr. Sorenson.

Background

5 By way of brief background, in May and June of 2006, a hearing took place before the Alberta Securities Commission ("ASC") against Milowe Allen Brost, one of two Respondents, and others, with respect to allegations of misrepresentations and fraud, relating to Strategic and investors in Strategic. On February 16, 2007, the ASC found that Strategic and a number of their representatives, specifically Edna Forrest, Carol Weeks, Bradley Regier and Mr. Brost, were responsible for false or misleading statements in an Offering Memoranda and that all of those parties engaged in a course of conduct that amounted to a fraud on the shareholders of Strategic. Mr. Sorenson was not a named party to the ASC hearing and did not appear, but was featured prominently in the deliberations and findings of the ASC.

6 What appears to be fairly clear from the ASC hearings is that Mr. Brost and Strategic were involved in a massive fraudulent scheme whereby the Applicants and other investors were induced to trust Mr. Brost and his associates with large amounts of money to be invested on their behalf. The information which was provided to the investors has been determined to be false. The total amount of money received by Mr. Brost and his associates was upward of $500 million. None has been recovered.

7 The decision of the ASC was appealed to our Alberta Court of Appeal. On October 3, 2008, the Court dismissed the appeals by Mr. Brost, Strategic and others. Alberta (Securities Commission) v. Brost, 2008 ABCA 326 (Alta. C.A.).

8 In paragraph 20 and 21of the Court of Appeal's decision, it stated:

> 20. The Commission summarized the fraudulent scheme, and the roles of each of the Appellants played in that scheme as follows (at para. 13 of the Sanctions Decision):
>
> > ... Brost was at the centre of the activities of Strategic and alternatives and ... when he developed Strategic and his business plan, he had in mind the involvement of Gary Sorenson ("Sorenson") and Art (Arthur) Wigmore ("Wigmore") [neither of whom were involved in the proceedings before the Commission] and the funding of mining ventures of either or both of them (as indeed incurred in respect of ventures within the Merendon orbit).... [The] plan was to lure public investor (with promises of high returns and safety along with tantalizing references to gold) into putting money into securities of Strategic - essentially a shell of a company whose main (but undisclosed) function was to finance Sorenson's mining ventures. ...
> 21. The Commission described the materials that Alternatives put out to market Strategic shares as "highly promotional", "factually weak" and "clearly designed to entice investors." It noted blatant untruths and misrepresentations in those materials. For example, it noted that Strategic's shares were touted as being secured by precious metals when that clearly was not the case. The Commission was convinced that Strategic investors would not see the returns they expected to realize on their investments and was doubtful that they would recover much of the money they paid.

9 In paragraph 42, the Court concluded that it was reasonable for the ASC to conclude that each of the Appellants engaged in conduct that amounted to regulatory fraud. It went on to say, at para. 47:

> We are of the view that there was evidence upon which the Commission could reasonably conclude, on a balance of probabilities, that Brost was responsible for making false and misleading statements to, and participating in a fraud on, investors.

The Court went on to dismiss the Appeals.

10 Pursuant to a Notice of Hearing dated May 17, 2009, the ASC has commenced proceedings against Arbour, Brost, IFFL, Sorenson, MMCL and a number of additional parties. The Notice of Hearing alleges, among other things, that the Respondents engaged in a course of conduct relating to the securities of Arbour that perpetrated a fraud on Alberta investors. That hearing is on-going.

Receivership

11 As mentioned, Strategic has been placed into receivership. Mr. Quilling has delivered two reports. The Applicants and others are, or were, investors who allege that the Respondents conspired and acted jointly together to defraud them of funds through the use of an investment scheme that operated in the same way as the investment scheme alleged and referred to in the ASC hearing in 2006 and in the Strategic action.

12 The hearing before the ASC and the matters heard by this Court and our Court of Appeal concerned Strategic and Mr. Brost. Mr. Sorenson and his companies (collectively referred to as the Merendon Companies) were not parties to those proceedings. Neither was Arbour a party.

13 The Applicants allege that Mr. Sorenson, the Merendon companies and Arbour are complicit in the fraud perpetrated by Mr. Brost. They seek to have Mr. Quilling appointed as Receiver of the Respondent companies and seek to have an injunction or attachment order against Mr. Sorenson.

14 Mr. Sorenson states that he was not a party to the original ASC hearings and denies even having anything to do with Mr. Brost's investment schemes. He admits to having been involved in "arm's length business dealings with Mr. Brost and certain of his corporate entities" but denies having been in business with Mr. Brost. I must assume he means that he has not conducted any nefarious business with Mr. Brost.

15 Mr. Sorenson objects to the evidence of Mr. Quilling being received because Mr. Quilling relies upon certain findings of the ASC. He argues that the ASC was not bound by the rules of evidence. Contrary to those rules, the ASC received and relied upon hearsay evidence. As neither Mr. Sorenson nor his companies were parties to that proceeding, the evidence ought not be relied upon. Nor should any of the ASC reasoning or findings be relied upon.

16 The argument of the Applicants is that their case is not founded upon any hearsay evidence which may be found in Mr. Quilling's affidavit, but rather upon the evidence of the financial documents which had been placed before the ASC and which have been examined by Mr. Quilling, as well as the affidavit of Mr. Sorenson and his cross-examination upon that affidavit.

17 What must be born in mind is that the Court of Appeal of this province has considered the decisions of the ASC in some detail and has upheld those decisions with respect to its findings relating to false and misleading statements and misrepresentations of Mr. Brost and others involved with Strategic and the related corporate vehicles. The ASC found that the Offering Memoranda "conveyed a thoroughly misleading picture of what investors were buying into and what was happening with their money". The ASC further found that fraud had been perpetrated on the investors, who include the Applicants.

18 The Court considered the grounds of appeal of Mr. Brost and the others and, in its analysis referred to the arguments of the Appellants which included the objection to the admission of the hearsay evidence. In paragraph 34, the Court stated:"The Commission acknowledged that transcripts of investigative interviews are not the same as live testimony in that hearsay evidence can be problematic. It treated the impugned hearsay evidence with caution when assessing its value and reliability." In paragraph 36, the Court concluded that the Appellant's arguments (including its arguments to exclude the hearsay evidence) were without merit.

19 Clearly, Mr. Sorenson was not involved directly, as a party, in the previous proceedings before the ASC. Just as clearly, however, his Merendon companies and Arbour were the subject of investigation in view of the flow of monies that went through Mr. Brost, Strategic and his related companies including IFFL and Capital Alternatives. Mr. Brost was the principle of Strategic, Capital Alternatives, IFFL and Merendon Mining (Colorado). These companies and Mr. Sorenson's Merendon companies, and Arbour were involved in the receipt and transfer of tens of millions of dollars which flowed freely between Mr. Brost's companies and Mr. Sorenson's companies.

20 MMCL received over $26 million from Mr. Brost's company - IFFL. MMCL purchased a mine in Tulameen, British Columbia for $1 million and sold it shortly after to Strategic for $9.6 million. That mine was held out by Strategic to be a prime property. It was information and belief of Sgt. Fuller that it was a sham. That appears to be confirmed from Mr. Quilling's investigation.

21 Arbour went from an insolvent company to one loaning $39 million in investors funds in a matter of months to MMCL. Mr. Sorenson claims that MMCL extinguished its obligation to Arbour by selling back to Arbour 25% interest in Tar Sand Recovery Limited. Nothing has been presented by Mr. Sorenson to justify Tar Sand's worth.

22 SGD was another Brost/Sorenson company which received money from Strategic and then directed huge sums of money (over $50 million) to MMCL. Again, no accounting is offered by Mr. Sorenson. Mr. Sorenson simply says that these were monies lent to MMCL and that the debt was retired. The documentation as to how it was retired and the documentation with respect to the value of any assets transferred is sadly lacking. There is simply no evidence put forward by Mr. Sorenson to lend any credence to his position that he was conducting a legitimate business at arm's length with Mr. Brost. There is evidence which suggests the contrary.

23 Mr. Quilling's report of August 26, 2008 states that as a result of information he has received, the Merendon Mining operation in Honduras is a sham as well. I have already determined that the Tulameen mine is basically a sham.

24 Both Mr. Brost and Mr. Sorenson were shareholders of SGD which provided funds to MMCL. Mr. Sorenson was aware that funds were being provided to MMCL through SGD and that they were being sourced from IFFL.

25 SGD existed for the sole purpose of channelling tens of millions of dollars of IFFL members' money to MMCL in exchange for no discernable value.

26 Mr. Sorenson argues he is being tarred by Mr. Brost's brush yet says that he does not have to disprove what is alleged. He continues to argue that he had no involvement in Strategic. Yet, it was Mr. Brost's evidence that Mr. Sorenson initially agreed to, and did become, a director of Strategic.

27 Mr. Sorenson continues to assert that the Honduran mine is continuing to produce gold while the evidence of Mr. Quilling, as fully set out in his report, is that the mine is a sham.

28 Serious allegations have been made against Mr. Sorenson and his companies in these proceedings. Mr. Sorenson has filed an affidavit and has been cross-examined on it. However, he has failed to produce any documentation which would speak to the value of any companies owned by him or that would answer in any manner the allegations of either fraud or dissipation of assets within the companies. Indeed, neither Mr. Sorenson nor MMCL have put forth any independent or reliable evidence of legitimate operations or value in MMCL or any of its subsidiaries or to account for any of the tens of millions of dollars of investors funds that Mr. Sorenson admits that his companies received. His position is that "only" $26 million went to his companies through Mr. Brost and that these were arm's length transactions which were legitimately retired.

29 I am satisfied that Mr. Sorenson and his companies have indeed received over $50 million directly or indirectly from Mr. Brost and his companies. There is no accounting for any of these monies. Mr. Sorenson's explanation of repaying the $26 million loan lacks credibility.

30 With respect to Arbour, Mr. Brost was its directing mind. Arbour and Strategic shared an address and had at least one common director. Arbour received $820,000.00 from Strategic and has accounted for none of it. Arbour was used as a flow-through to send investment funds to Mr. Sorenson's company, MMCL. Arbour appears to be insolvent at this time. It is not carrying on business presently. It has been the recipient of at least $28 million from the Applicants and other investors. It gave that to MMCL. I have already referred to the transfer by MMCL to Arbour of an interest in Tar Sands Recovery Limited. This is another example of failure to document or establish in any manner a value. There has been no accounting for funds received.

31 The only assets which Mr. Sorenson claims to have comprises mining properties in Honduras and Equator which, according to Mr. Quilling's report, have no value. He claims that his house in Honduras is in his wife's name. He had been receiving $50,000 per month from MMCL until September 2009. However, he refuses to disclose any bank accounts or any information relating to any assets which he might have anywhere.

32 In determining whether it is just and convenient to appoint a Receiver, a Court should consider various factors such as:

a. whether irreparable harm might be caused if no order is made;

b. the risk to the parties;

c. the risk of waste debtor's assets;

d. the preservation and protection of property pending judicial resolution; and

e. the balance of convenience.

33 There is a real risk of irreparable harm in the wasting of the proposed receivership companies' assets. The proposed receivership companies are experienced at transferring money. The Applicants' evidence is that over $80 million was transferred to corporations controlled by Mr. Brost, Mr. Sorenson and others. None of the companies has accounted for any of the monies received. None of the companies has given this Court assurances that assets will not be transferred. All of the assets of MMCL and the Merendon companies are in Central and South America, outside the ability of this Court to supervise absentee appointment of a Receiver. The purpose of this action is the recovery of funds for investors. Without protection in place, I am satisfied that the ability to manage the affairs of and further investigate the proposed companies, there is a real risk that very little, if any, recovery will be possible.

34 The appointment of a Receiver will allow assets to be preserved. Given the nature of the claim, the preservation of the assets is essential. On Mr. Sorenson's evidence, neither MMCL nor any of the Merendon companies have any operations or assets in North America. Absent Court supervision through a Receiver, they may freely dissipate and shield assets from the investors/creditors.

35 With respect to the balance of convenience, I am of the view that it favours the placement of a Receiver. The Receiver will be able to preserve assets and further investigate the whereabouts of any other assets. His investigative power is essential. Tens of millions of dollars have been raised from investors. The whereabouts of the money is unknown. Large flows of funds between a number of the companies have been identified but the ultimate uses to which those funds have been put have not been identified.

36 I am simply not satisfied that any of the on-going business activities which the companies might be involved will be thwarted by the appointment of a Receiver. I see no evidence of any harm to these companies by the placement of a Receiver. A receivership order will therefore issue, appointing Mr. Quilling as the Receiver.

Attachment Order/Mereva Injunction

37 In order to obtain an Attachment Order, the Applicants must show that there is a reasonable likelihood of success at trial.

38 Mr. Sorenson appears to have gone to great lengths to make himself judgment-proof. He claims that he has not dissipated assets yet refuses to answer specific questions on his cross-examination with respect to asset dissipation or the presence of any bank accounts he may have.

39 I am satisfied that Mr. Sorenson and his companies have received somewhere between $50-80 million in investor funds from SGD, Strategic, Arbour and IFFL. There has been no accounting with respect to those funds. Mr. Sorenson simply denies that he was a cohort of Mr. Brost and argues that he has to prove nothing. He is correct with respect to the latter statement, but when forced with rather over-whelming evidence of Mr. Quilling and the conclusions of the ASC, together with the statements of Mr. Brost, Mr. Sorenson must do more than simply say that he never had any contact with these Applicants and that he did not solicit funds from them directly. When I looked at the conclusions of the ASC there is little doubt but that Mr. Sorenson and his companies were a key element in the raising and dissipation of those funds. He appears to have been a key element in the fraud perpetrated by Mr. Brost.

40 In the end result, I am satisfied that an Attachment Order is appropriate and such Order will issue together with the Receivership Order as indicated.

Application granted.

Donald Lee J.*:

1 The Plaintiff Romspen Investment Corporation ("RIC") is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of the Province of Ontario, registered extra-provincially in the Province of Alberta. The Defendant companies are bodies corporate incorporated pursuant to the laws of the Province of Alberta. The Defendant Kevyn Ronald Frederick also known as Kevyn Frederick, Kevin Frederic, Kevyn Sheldon Frederick or Kevin Frederick ("Frederick"), is alleged to be the officer, director, shareholder and controlling mind of the Defendants.

2 In accordance with the terms of certain loan transactions alleged, RIC advanced $32,000,000 to Hargate Properties Inc. ("Hargate") and 1410973 Alberta Ltd. ("1410973") in 2010. The amount due and owing under the Loan Commitment from Hargate and 1410973 to RIC as of November 7, 2011 is submitted to be $32,743,923.42 with per diem interest thereafter at $8,746.66.

3 In addition to the Commitment by Hargate and 1410973 to repay the principal and interest, there was also additional security for the loans issued pursuant to the Commitment. Hargate and 1410973 executed and delivered to RIC a Land Titles Act mortgage dated May 28, 2010 which was registered with the Land Titles Office for the Alberta Land Registration District on August 10, 2010 whereby Hargate and 1410973 mortgaged in favour of RIC two distinct parcels of land. One title hereafter referred to as the "Hotel Lands" is the downtown location upon which the Chateau Lacombe Crown Plaza Hotel is situated; and the second parcel of land consists of 20.07 acres located on the south end of Edmonton on which a Church is located, hereinafter referred to as the "Church Lands".

4 It is submitted that these two parcels of land secured the payment of the principal sum of $32,000,000 together with interest on all amounts remaining unpaid, both before and after default at an interest rate of 10% per year. It is alleged that default has been made pursuant to the terms of the mortgage and as described previously as of November 7, 2011 the sum of $32,743,923.42 plus interest is due and owing. It was an express term of the Commitment, Mortgage as well as a further General Security Agreement ("GSA") dated May 28, 2010 that all indebtedness owing to RIC was repayable on demand.

5 By demand in writing made October 11, 2011 RIC made demand for repayment of the Indebtedness pursuant to the Commitment, the Mortgage and the GSA, however it is alleged that Hargate and 1410973 have refused or neglected to pay. On October 11, 2011 a Notice of Intention to Enforce Security pursuant to Section 244(1) of the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act was delivered to all of the Defendants.

6 It is also alleged that there is a continuing unlimited Guarantee in writing dated March 28, 2011 in effect that was made in consideration of RIC making the loan to Hargate and 1410973 in which Voipus Canada Ltd. ("Voipus"), 1333183 Alberta Ltd. ("1333183"), Bellavera Green Condominium Corp. ("Bellavera") and Frederick all unconditionally guaranteed on a full indemnity basis any money and charges incurred by RIC in recovering the Indebtedness.

7 On November 15, 2011 with respect to the Church Lands consisting of 20 acres, counsel for Dr. Singh appeared submitting that his client should be appointed the Receiver with respect to those lands, separate and apart from any application being made by D. Manning and Associates to be appointed receiver of the Hotel Lands and the hotel operation. Although taxes have not been apparently paid on the Church Lands to the City of Edmonton, the Church on the 20 acres of land pays rent of approximately $24,000 a year. Foreclosure proceedings have apparently been commenced by Dr. Singh with respect to those lands, and his appointment as Receiver was sought with respect to the Church Land rentals.

8 Remaining counsel present on November 15, 2011 took the position that an independent professional receiver should be appointed with respect to the Church Lands as opposed to Dr. Singh, who may also be engaged in other litigation with respect to the securitisation of the RIC loan in the future. It was proposed that D. Manning and Associates Ltd. be appointed receiver for the Church Lands as well.

9 Counsel for Dr. Singh was concerned about the costs involved in having a professional receiver appointed for such a simple series of transactions with respect to collecting rentals on the Church Lands.

10 An Order was eventually issued appointing D. Manning and Associates Ltd. to be the Receiver/Manager for both lands on the understanding that certain limiting set fees would be charged with respect to the Church Lands. All parties were generally in agreement with respect to the ultimate Receivership Order that was signed on November 15, 2011 containing the standard template provisions with two amendments which read as follows:-

> (a) Allowed the Receiver to engage the hotel management services of Allied Hospitalities Services Inc.;
> (b) Allowed the Receiver to make payments to secured and other creditors including RIC, to ensure the ongoing operations of the debtor.

11 After this application for a Receivership Order was heard and granted on November 15, 2011, an Amended Statement of Claim was filed on November 21, 2011 adding as a Party the Defendant Chateau Lacombe Capital Partners Ltd. ("CLCPL"), and an Order was sought to include CLCPL within the definition of "Debtor" in the initial Receivership Order.

12 It is alleged that following to the Receiver/Manager Order of Hargate granted on November 15, 2011, the Receiver/Manager took possession of all of the Property as defined in that Order on November 15, 2011. The Receiver/Manager then discovered the existence of CLCPL for the first time. It was determined that all of the 120 unionized employees, and all 60 to 70 non-union employees of the Hotel were employed and contracted by CLCPL, allegedly contrary to the terms of the Commitment, Mortgage and GSA.

13 The Receiver Manager also determined that contrary to the terms of those three securitisations, that all of the revenue from the use and operation of the Hargate Property and the Hotel Lands had been diverted to CLCPL and deposited to CLCPL's operating accounts with the HSBC Bank of Canada (the "Operating Accounts").

14 At the time of the granting of the original November 15, 2011 Order, it is alleged that the Operating Accounts had a balance of $295,000 but that on the morning of the granting of the Order on November 15, 2011, Frederick caused $145,000 to be transferred from the Operating Accounts to his own personal account with RBC Securities.

15 The Receiver Manager is also alleging from his review of the records of Hargate and CLCPL that the Canada Revenue Agency ("CRA") issued a Requirement to Pay to the CRA account of CLCPL dated September 21, 2011 in the amount of $513,340.07; and that the balance outstanding for GST Remittances due as of October 31, 2011 is $407,624.40.

Conclusion

16 The creation and existence of CLCPL as a separate entity for the operation of the hotel business known as Crown Plaza Chateau Lacombe Hotel makes it central to the effective operation of that hotel in combination with the Hotel Lands, the property of Hargate, and the employees. CLCPL apparently receives all of the revenues from the Hotel's business operations, and employs all of the employees.

17 It is proposed that the Receiver/Manager have control over all of the property of both Hargate and CLCPL as Receiver/Manager. Given CLCPL's central role in operating the hotel business, that its existence may be in breach of the Loan Documents, and CLCPL appears to be in significant arrears to the CRA, I conclude that it is just and convenient that the Receiver/Manager have control of all of the property of both Hargate and CLCPL.

18 WestLB AG, Toronto Branch v. Rosseau Resort Developments Inc., 2009 CarswellOnt 6182, 59 C.B.R. (5th) 303 (Ont. S.C.J. [Commercial List]), at paragraph 37 is applicable in the present circumstances:-

> 37 As noted by the Court of Appeal in 80 Wellesley St. East Ltd. v. Fundy Bay Builders Ltd., as a superior court of general jurisdiction, the Superior Court has all of the powers that are necessary to do justice between the parties. Specifically, the jurisdiction to appoint a receiver and manager is found in section 101 of the Courts of Justice Act. It provides that a receiver may be appointed where it appears to a judge to be just or convenient to do so. The order may include such terms as are considered just. A receiver has been appointed over companies in circumstances where they are intricately involved with companies already in receivership and where it was just and convenient to do so: Ed Mirvish Enterprises Ltd. v. Stinson Hospitality Inc. [2007 CarswellOnt 7332 (Ont. Gen. Div. [Commercial List])]. That said, the appointment of a receiver is an extraordinary remedy which should be granted sparingly: O.W. Waste Inc. v. EX-L Sweeping & Flushing Ltd.
> [Underlining Added]

19 Similarly in General Electric Canada Real Estate Financing Holding Co. v. Liberty Assisted Living Inc., 2011 CarswellOnt 8054, 2011 ONSC 4704 (Ont. Div. Ct.), the appointment of an investigative receiver over a company has occurred in circumstances where the company is intrinsically involved with the companies already in receivership, and where it is necessary to review and ascertain the transactions that have taken place within the network of companies.

20 The additional appointment of a Receiver for CLCPL is consistent with the factors a Court may consider in determining whether it is appropriate to appoint a receiver as described by my colleague Romaine J at paragraph 27 in Paragon Capital Corp. v. Merchants & Traders Assurance Co., 2002 CarswellAlta 1531, 2002 ABQB 430 (Alta. Q.B.)

> 27 The factors a court may consider in determining whether it is appropriate to appoint a receiver include the following:
> a) whether irreparable harm might be caused if no order were made, although it is not essential for a creditor to establish irreparable harm if a receiver is not appointed, particularly where the appointment of a receiver is authorized by the security documentation;
>
> b) the risk to the security holder taking into consideration the size of the debtor's equity in the assets and the need for protection or safeguarding of the assets while litigation takes place;

c) the nature of the property;

d) the apprehended or actual waste of the debtor's assets;

e) the preservation and protection of the property pending judicial resolution;

f) the balance of convenience to the parties;

g) the fact that the creditor has the right to appoint a receiver under the documentation provided for the loan;

h) the enforcement of rights under a security instrument where the security-holder encounters or expects to encounter difficulty with the debtor and others;

i) the principle that the appointment of a receiver is extraordinary relief which should be granted cautiously and sparingly;

j) the consideration of whether a court appointment is necessary to enable the receiver to carry out its' duties more efficiently;

k) the effect of the order upon the parties;

l) the conduct of the parties;

m) the length of time that a receiver may be in place;

n) the cost to the parties;

o) the likelihood of maximizing return to the parties;

p) the goal of facilitating the duties of the receiver.

21 I conclude that it would be appropriate to amend the November 15, 2011 Order to include within the definition of "debtor" CLCPL. Accordingly all the terms of the original November 15, 2011 Order shall apply to CLCPL from the date of that Order. Furthermore I will seize myself with all future applications in this matter.

Motion granted.

SWISS BANK CORPORATION (CANADA) v. ODYSSEY INDUSTRIES INCORPORATED and WESTON ROAD COLD STORAGE COMPANY

Ground J.

Heard: December 7 and 15, 1994
Judgment: January 31, 1995
Docket: Docs. 94-CU-80416, B 280/94

Counsel: Frank Newbould, Q.C. , for plaintiff.
Alan J. Lenczner, Q.C. and Linda L. Fuerst , for defendants.

Ground J.*:

1 This is a motion brought by the plaintiff, Swiss Bank Corporation (Canada) ("Swiss Bank") for the appointment of a receiver and manager of the property, undertaking and assets of the defendants, Odyssey Industries Incorporated ("Odyssey") and Weston Road Cold Storage Company ("Weston").

Factual Background

2 Odyssey and Weston are part of a group of entities controlled by Joseph Robichaud ("Robichaud") which carry on business in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. The business is based upon the storage of frozen foods in large cold-storage warehouse facilities. Other entities controlled by Robichaud either carry on, or carried on, similar business in Western Canada and in the United States.

3 Odyssey, a corporation controlled by Robichaud, was a holding company. It held 100% of the equity of Associated Freezers of Canada Inc. ("AFC"). AFC operated the freezer business under leases from limited partnerships controlled by Robichaud which held the beneficial ownership of the various cold-storage warehouse facilities. As a result of various transactions recently undertaken by one or more of the Robichaud entities, it is in issue as to which corporation or entity manages the business, or has beneficial ownership of the various warehouse properties at this time.

4 Seven cold-storage warehouse plants are registered in the name of 606327 Ontario Limited ("606327"). They are situated in Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland. Until recently, 606327 held the properties in trust for a limited partnership registered in Ontario as The Polar-Freez Limited Partnership ("Polar-Freez"). Ninety percent of the limited partnership units of Polar-Freez were owned by AFC.

5 Two cold-storage warehouse facilities are owned by the defendant Weston which is a limited partnership registered in Ontario.

6 On December 13, 1988, Swiss Bank advanced approximately $47.5 million (the "Odyssey Loan") to Associated Investors Partnership ("Associated Investors"), one of the partners of which was Odyssey. The loan was repayable on demand. Associated Investors advanced the funds to Odyssey.

7 The security Swiss Bank received for the Odyssey Loan included:

(a) assignments by Odyssey of $30 million and $39 million mortgages (the "Polar-Freez Mortgages") from 606327 to Odyssey, each mortgage being registered over the seven cold-storage warehouse plants beneficially owned by Polar-Freez. The mortgage terms included an obligation to pay all taxes when due; and

(b) a fixed and floating charge debenture (the "Odyssey Debenture") in the amount of $47.5 million given by Odyssey over all of its assets as a general and continuing collateral security. The Odyssey Debenture contained standard provisions dealing with events of default and remedies, including the right to apply to a court for the appointment of a receiver and manager.

8 The Odyssey Loan was payable on demand. By letters dated July 22, 1994, Swiss Bank demanded payment of outstanding arrears and principal to be made no later than September 6, 1994. Payment was not made. Principal outstanding as of November 20, 1994 was $48,959,148.48. As of November 20, 1994, there was $1,178,241.19 of arrears of interest owing.

9 Municipal property taxes on the seven Polar-Freez properties are in arrears of approximately $2.5 million. These arrears have existed over various periods of time within the past two years.

10 On December 4, 1989, Swiss Bank agreed to renew an existing facility in favour of Weston in an amount not to exceed $10,179,750 (the "Weston Loan"). The loan was repayable on December 31, 1994, or in the event of default, on demand.

11 The security Swiss Bank received for the Weston Loan included:

(a) a collateral mortgage in the amount of $13 million over the two warehouses owned by Weston. The mortgage provided that Weston was to pay all municipal taxes when due;

(b) a general security agreement over the assets and undertaking of Weston containing standard terms describing the events of the default and remedies available, including the right of Swiss Bank to apply to court for the appointment of a receiver and manager; and

(c) guarantees by Odyssey and Robichaud of the indebtedness of Weston to the amounts of $13 million and $3.5 million respectively.

12 Principal payments on the Weston Loan of $150,000 were due on December 31 each year commencing in 1990. No payments of principal were made and therefore as of December 31, 1993, and thereafter, $600,000 in principal payments were in arrears. The Weston Loan agreement provided for a hedge account to be funded by Weston. The purpose of this account was to provide protection to Swiss Bank as a hedge against any adverse movements in foreign exchange rates in the event that Weston transferred its obligations into Swiss francs. An initial deposit of $1 million was made by Weston to the hedge account at the end of December 1989 as required. Further payments of $350,000 per annum commencing on December 31, 1990 were required; however, the only payment made was a further $15,000 payment on July 31, 1992. The hedge account is in arrears of $1,040,000. Municipal tax arrears against the Weston properties of approximately $1 million have been outstanding for approximately two years.

13 By letter dated July 22, 1994, Swiss Bank demanded payment in full of outstanding principal plus interest by September 6, 1994. Payment was not made. Principal outstanding as of November 29, 1994 was $11,334,907.93. Loan interest payments have been in default since March 31, 1994. The amount of interest outstanding to November 29, 1994 is $203,686.70.

14 In the Spring of 1994, the Robichaud Group presented a restructuring plan that included a reverse take-over of a new Robichaud corporation named Polar Corp. International ("Polar Corp.") by a V.S.E.-traded corporation.

15 The restructuring plan contemplated: (i) Polar Corp acquiring the seven warehouses from Polar-Freez; (ii) a transfer of AFC's ownership interest in Polar-Freez to a corporation named Pacific Eastern Equities Inc. ("Pacific Eastern"), a corporation controlled by Robichaud with no substantial assets; (iii) a winding-up of AFC under s. 88 of the Income Tax Act , and conveyance of its assets to Odyssey; (iv) a sale of the leasehold interest of Odyssey (now the tenant) in the seven warehouses to Polar Corp.

16 It appears from the documents before the court that certain conveyances and transfer documents and agreements were entered into pursuant to the restructuring plan and there are letters and memoranda before the court referring to certain assets having been transferred in accordance with the restructuring plan. There is also before the court a master agreement made as of October 31, 1994 (the "Master Agreement") among Odyssey, Weston, their affiliated companies, Robichaud and Swiss Bank, which appears to provide that the restructuring plan will not be effective, or to the extent that it has already been effected, it will be reversed, unless certain aspects of the restructuring plan have been settled to the satisfaction of Swiss Bank. Section 2.21 of the Master Agreement provides as follows:

> If:
>
> > (a) by 5 p.m. on November 4, 1994, the matters referred to in Sections 2.17(c) and (d) and 2.18(b) shall not have been agreed to;
> >
> > (b) any payment required under Section 2.20 shall not be made when due;
> >
> > (c) by 5 p.m. on November 4, 1994 (i) the Robichaud Group shall not have provided SBCC with complete particulars of the debts, obligations and liabilities (whether absolute or contingent, matured or not) of each of AFC and Odyssey (including, without limitation, obligations in respect of taxes), describing the creditor, the amount of the debt, obligation or liability and the nature thereof, or (ii) SBCC shall not be satisfied with the amount of such liabilities and that AFC shall have sufficient assets to and shall be able to satisfy all such debts, obligations and liabilities; or
> > (d) by 5 p.m. on November 4, 1994 SBCC shall not be satisfied as to the tax consequences of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, > this Agreement shall terminate on notice by SBCC and shall be of no further force and effect.

17 It appears to be agreed that the conditions set out in s. 2.21 of the Master Agreement were not fulfilled.

Submissions

18 It is the position of counsel for Swiss Bank that the transfers of assets contemplated by the Master Agreement did in fact take place and that the cancellation of the leases to AFC which were assigned to Odyssey on the wind-up of AFC constituted a breach of the covenant of Odyssey contained in the Odyssey Debenture not to dispose of any part of the charged premises except in the ordinary course of business. It is his further submission that, if I should find that the transactions contemplated by the restructuring plan did not in fact take place, there is still ample evidence before the court that the Odyssey Loan and the Weston Loan were in default and that Swiss Bank is entitled to the appointment of a receiver.

19 With respect to the restructuring plan, counsel for Swiss Bank points out that a number of the letters and memoranda and several statements contained in the affidavits of Robichaud, all submitted to the court, refer to the transactions as having taken place and the assets having been transferred in accordance with the restructuring plan. There is no reference anywhere to the transfer documents being held in escrow pending the approval by Swiss Bank to the restructuring plan. He submits that the Master Agreement is of no legal effect in that Swiss Bank gave notice that it was not satisfied as to the tax aspects of the restructuring plan and, accordingly, the situation remains as it was before the Master Agreement was entered into.

20 With respect to other defaults, counsel for Swiss Bank refers to the following: the fact that interest is in arrears on the Odyssey Loan in an amount in excess of $1,100,000; that demand has been made for payment of the principal of the Odyssey Loan and such payment has not been made; that there are tax arrears on the Polar-Freez properties in an amount in excess of $2,500,000; that there are principal payments of $600,000 in arrears on the Weston Loan, and that the annual payments of $350,000 required to have been made to the hedge account under the Weston Loan have not been made; that there is interest in default on the Weston Loan in the amount of $203,000; that there are municipal tax arrears on the Weston properties in amounts in excess of $1,000,000; that a demand for payment of the principal amount of the Weston Loan has been made and that the principal has not been paid. It is his submission that, whether or not a transfer of assets in breach of the provisions of the Odyssey Debenture has occurred pursuant to the restructuring plan, the existence of all of the other defaults under the Odyssey Loan and the Weston Loan entitle Swiss Bank to the appointment of a court appointed receiver. It also appears to be his position that the transfer by Odyssey of certain term deposits to affiliates in the United States constitutes a diversion of funds from Odyssey such that the court ought to find that the security for the Odyssey Loan and the ability of Odyssey to repay the Odyssey Loan are in jeopardy.

21 Counsel for Odyssey and Weston submit that Swiss Bank is not entitled to the appointment of a receiver for a number of reasons. First, they submit that the Odyssey Loan is illegal and, accordingly, the security for such loan is void and unenforceable. It is their position that the Odyssey Loan when originally made was in breach of regulations under the Bank Act , S.C. 1980-81-82-83, c. 40 (the "Bank Act ") in that the loan could not be made by Swiss Bank as it would have been in breach of the large loan to capital ratios specified in regulations under the Bank Act and, accordingly, the loan was referred to Swiss Bank's parent corporation in Switzerland and was arranged through the parent corporation and one of its other affiliates.

22 Second, counsel alleges that Swiss Bank is in breach of certain provisions of the commitment letters for both the Odyssey Loan and the Weston Loan by refusing to agree to certain conversions of the loans from Swiss francs to Canadian dollars on several occasions at the request of the borrowers made pursuant to the terms of the commitment letters. In refusing to allow such conversions, counsel submit that Swiss Bank was not only in breach of the terms of the commitment letters, but was also in breach of its fiduciary duty to the borrowers in that Swiss Bank had undertaken to give advice to the borrowers as to the structure of the loans and as to currency conversions.

23 Third, counsel for Odyssey and Weston point out that Swiss Bank is not seeking the appointment of an interim receiver pending trial of this action, but is seeking the appointment of a court appointed receiver and manager to take over the business, undertaking and assets of Odyssey and Weston to enforce the security held by Swiss Bank and effect repayment of the Odyssey Loan and the Weston Loan. Counsel submit that under the provisions of s. 101 of the C.J.A., a receiver and manager may be appointed where it appears to a judge of the court to be just or convenient to do so, and that, in seeking the appointment of a receiver and manager, Swiss Bank is seeking an equitable remedy. It is the position of counsel for Odyssey and Weston that to appoint a receiver in this case would be unjust and inequitable. They submit that there is no risk of irreparable harm to Swiss Bank if a receiver is not appointed pending the trial of the oppression action commenced by Swiss Bank. There are certificates of pending litigation registered against the properties and there is an outstanding order restricting the disposition of any assets of Odyssey and Weston. In addition, Robichaud and the Robichaud group are prepared to give an undertaking to the court that there will be no expenditures of cash outside the ordinary course of business pending the trial of the action. It is further submitted that, if it is determined at trial that the assets have been transferred in accordance with the restructuring plan, there is very little in Odyssey for a receiver to administer and that, if it is determined that the assets remain in Odyssey and Polar-Freez, a sale of such assets by the receiver would result in a substantial tax liability and Swiss Bank would not recover an amount which would substantially decrease the principal amount of the Odyssey Loan. In addition, counsel submits that to appoint a receiver would be inequitable in view of Swiss Bank's acquiescence in the asset transfer since the Spring of 1994. Further, it is submitted, the appointment would result in extreme hardship to the borrowers, that Swiss Bank does not come to court with clean hands in view of its refusal to permit conversions of the loans and that any receiver and manager appointed to run the business of Odyssey and Weston would not have the background and experience of Robichaud in the operation of the business.

24 With respect to the diversion of funds to affiliates in the United States, counsel for Odyssey and Weston submit that there is no evidence that the transfer of the deposit receipts was for any improper purpose or was not in the ordinary course of business in view of the history of relationships among the Robichaud group of companies and, in any event, does not constitute evidence that the security for the Swiss Bank loans was in jeopardy or materially affect the ability of the borrowers to repay such loans.

Reasons

25 I shall deal first with the status of the restructuring plan and the effect of the Master Agreement. I accept the submission of counsel for Swiss Bank that there are many references in correspondence, memoranda and affidavits to the transactions contemplated by the restructuring plan having taken place and assets having been transferred and that there is no reference in any of such documents to the agreements or transfers having been made in escrow pending the approval of the restructuring plan by Swiss Bank. It seems to me, however, that the effect of the Master Agreement is either that such transactions are reversed, or that they shall be deemed never to have taken place. Section 5.4 of the Master Agreement provides:

> In case any of the conditions set out in Section 5.3 shall not have been fulfilled and/or performed within the time specified for such fulfilment and/or performance, or if SBCC determines that any condition might not be fulfilled or performed as required, SBCC may terminate this Agreement by notice in writing to the Robichaud Group. Each member of the Robichaud Group expressly acknowledges that its obligations to SBCC shall be deemed not to be assigned, transferred, amended or restated as contemplated hereby until all of the foregoing conditions precedent have been satisfied or waived in writing by SBCC. If such conditions be terminated under Section 2.21, this Agreement and all transactions contemplated hereby including, without limitation, the transactions contemplated by Article II shall be of no force or effect and the obligations of the Robichaud Group to SBCC and defaults under such obligations then existing shall continue and SBC shall be entitled immediately and without further notice or delay, to exercise any and all remedies available to it in respect of such defaults.

26 One could become embroiled in a metaphysical debate as to whether the effect of such section is that the transactions having taken place have been reversed or that the transactions are deemed never to have taken place. Whichever is the case, there has either been a default under the Odyssey Debenture which has been rectified, or no default under the Odyssey Debenture has taken place. Accordingly, it is not, in my view, grounds for the appointment of a receiver and manager by Swiss Bank. I am also not satisfied that the rather confused transactions involving the term deposits in the United States constitute grounds for the appointment of a receiver. It appears that the transfers of the term deposits to the United States were for valid business reasons, i.e. to provide security for the performance of a lease or for the approval of a proposal under c. 11. There is no evidence to support the contention of counsel for Swiss Bank that the failure to reflect one of the transfers of such term deposits on the books of AFC was part of some nefarious plot to divert assets of the Robichaud Group companies. Accordingly, I am not persuaded that these transactions constitute a basis for determining that the security for the loans was in jeopardy, or that the ability of Odyssey and Weston to pay the loans was materially effected by these transactions so as to satisfy the court that it would be just and convenient on this ground to appoint a receiver and manager.

27 It appears, however, that the other defaults under both the Odyssey Loan and the Weston Loan referred to by counsel for Swiss Bank, would of themselves provide ample justification for the appointment of a receiver and manager. One must then consider the submissions made by counsel for Odyssey and Weston that, in this case, it would be unjust and inequitable to order such appointment.

28 The first submission of counsel for Odyssey and Weston is that there is no risk of irreparable harm to Swiss Bank if a receiver is not appointed as certificates of pending litigation have been filed against the real estate properties involved, and there is an existing order restraining the disposition of other assets. I know of no authority for the proposition that a creditor must establish irreparable harm if the appointment of a receiver is not granted by the court. In fact, the authorities seem to support the proposition that irreparable harm need not be demonstrated (see Bank of Montreal v. Appcon Ltd. (1981), 33 O.R. (2d) 97 (S.C.)).

29 The second submission of counsel for Odyssey and Weston is that there would be no substantial benefit to Swiss Bank resulting from the appointment in that, if it is determined that the assets have been transferred to Polar Corp., there is very little in Odyssey for a receiver to administer. Having found that the effect of the termination of the Master Agreement is that either the transfer of assets has been reversed or is deemed not to have taken place, substantial assets remain in Odyssey and its subsidiaries and a receiver would be in a position to administer such assets and business or to realize upon them to satisfy the indebtedness owing to Swiss Bank. Accordingly, I do not accept the submission that there is no substantial benefit to Swiss Bank from the appointment of a receiver.

30 Counsel for Odyssey and Weston submit that Swiss Bank acquiesced in the transfer of assets since the Spring of 1994, and that accordingly, it would be inequitable to appoint a receiver at this time. My reading of the material before this court is that, although Swiss Bank was aware of the intended restructuring plan and the motivation for such plan, it was concerned throughout about the effect that such plan would have on its security position and the tax ramifications of such plan, and at no time indicated its acquiescence in, or approval of, the plan.

31 With respect to the hardship to Odyssey and Weston should a receiver be appointed, I am unable to find any evidence of undue or extreme hardship. Obviously the appointment of a receiver always causes hardship to the debtor in that the debtor loses control of its assets and business and may risk having its assets and business sold. The situation in this case is no different. If the borrowers are able to arrange new financing to pay off the loan, the receiver will be discharged and there appear to be no unusual circumstances prohibiting Odyssey and Weston from seeking new financing to pay off the outstanding loans to Swiss Bank and regaining control of their assets and business. Similarly, the fact that any receiver and manager appointed would not have the background and expertise in running the business that Robichaud has is no reason not to grant the appointment. In most situations, the receiver and manager will not have the same expertise as the principals of the debtor and may retain the principals to manage the day-to-day operation of the business during the receivership period. This circumstance does not in my view establish that it would be unjust or inequitable to appoint a receiver.

32 The first submission of counsel for Odyssey and Weston is that the Odyssey Loan was illegal and accordingly the security for such loan is void and unenforceable. The illegality is alleged to have arisen from the fact that Swiss Bank would not have been able to make the original loan to Odyssey itself without being in breach of certain regulations under the Bank Act . I am unable to accept this submission for two reasons. The initial loan made in 1985 has been repaid and it is security for the new loan made in 1989 which is now sought to be enforced. There is so far as I am aware no allegations that Swiss Bank was unable to make the new loan in 1989. In any event, Swiss Bank did not make the original 1985 loan; rather, it arranged for the loan to be made by its parent company in Switzerland and an European affiliate of its parent company, neither of whom would have been subject to the regulations under the Bank Act . Accordingly, I fail to see how the original loan could be said to be illegal when the loan was not made by an institution subject to the regulations under the Bank Act . Moreover, the decision of the Ontario Court of Appeal in Sidmay Ltd. v. Wehttam Investments, [1967] 1 O.R. 508 , affirmed [1968] S.C.R. 828 would seem to stand for the proposition that, even if a loan is made in contravention of a statute or regulation governing the lending institution, such loan is still enforceable by the lending institution.

33 Counsel for Odyssey and Weston further submit that Swiss Bank did not come to court with clean hands in view of the fact that it was in breach of the provisions of the commitment letters governing the Odyssey Loan and the Weston Loan by virtue of its failure to allow certain currency conversions, and was also in breach of its fiduciary duty to the borrowers in that it had undertaken to give advice with respect to the structure of the loans and the provision for currency conversion. I can see that the language of the two commitment letters dealing with currency conversions is not abundantly clear and there is little evidence before this court as to whether the requests for currency conversions were properly made on the appropriate dates and with the appropriate notice.

34 There is also very little evidence before this court to establish that this a situation of special relationship or exceptional circumstances where a lender would be found to have a fiduciary duty to its borrower in that the relationship between them goes beyond the normal relationship of borrower and lender. The Supreme Court of Canada recently dealt with the law of fiduciaries in Hodgkinson v. Simms , September 30, 1994, (unreported) [now reported at [1994] 9 W.W.R. 609]. At pp. 20-22 [pp. 629-630] of his reasons, LaForestJ. stated:

> In LAC Minerals I elaborated further on the approach proposed by Wilson J. in Frame v. Smith . I there identified three uses of the term fiduciary, only two of which I thought were truly fiduciary. The first is in describing certain relationships that have as their essence discretion, influence over interests, and an inherent vulnerability. In these types of relationships, there is a rebuttable presumption, arising out of the inherent purpose of the relationship, that one party has a duty to act in the best interests of the other party. Two obvious examples of this type of fiduciary relationship are trustee-beneficiary and agent-principal. In seeking to determine whether new classes of relationships are per se fiduciary, Wilson J.'s three-step analysis is a useful guide.
> As I noted in LAC Minerals , however, the three-step analysis proposed by Wilson J. encounters difficulties in identifying relationships described by a slightly different use of the term "fiduciary", viz., situations in which fiduciary obligations, though not innate to a given relationship, arise as a matter of fact out of the specific circumstances of that particular relationship ... In these cases, the question to ask is whether, given all the surrounding circumstances, one party could reasonably have expected that the other party would act in the former's best interests with respect to the subject matter at issue. Discretion, influence, vulnerability and trust were mentioned as non-exhaustive examples of evidential factors to be considered in making this determination.

Thus, outside the established categories, what is required is evidence of a mutual understanding that one party has relinquished its own self-interest and agreed to act solely on behalf of the other party. ...

In relation to the advisory context, then, there must be something more than a simple undertaking by one party to provide information and execute orders for the other for a relationship to be enforced as fiduciary. For example, most everyday transactions between a bank customer and banker are conducted on a creditor-debtor basis; see Canadian Pioneer Management Ltd. v. Saskatchewan (Labour Relations Board), [1980] 1 S.C.R. 433 ; Thermo King Corp. v. Provincial Bank of Canada (1981), 34 O.R. (2d) 369 (C.A.) , leave to appeal refused, [1982] 1 S.C.R. xi (note) ....

35 La Forest J. then makes the following comments about commercial transactions at pp. 26-27 [pp. 632-633]:

Commercial interactions between parties at arm's length normally derive their social utility from the pursuit of self-interest, and the courts are rightly circumspect when asked to enforce a duty (i.e., the fiduciary duty) that vindicates the very antithesis of self-interest ... No doubt it will be a rare occasion where parties, in all other respects independent, are justified in surrendering their self-interest such as to invoke the fiduciary principle.

36 The commercial transactions among the parties to this action do not appear to me to be those rare occasions where the fiduciary principle would be invoked.

37 In any event, in my view, such allegations of breach of contract and breach of fiduciary duty would have to be established by the borrowers in an action in damages against Swiss Bank and such damages may well be offset against the amounts owing under the Odyssey Loan and the Weston Loan. The fact that such allegations are being made at this time does not, however, constitute a reason for refusing to grant the appointment of a receiver at this time or convince me that it would be unjust or inequitable to do so. It has not been suggested that the damages which might be awarded to Odyssey and Weston, should they be successful in any such action, would be sufficient to pay off the Odyssey Loan and the Weston Loan. In fact, the limited evidence before the court as to the damages to which Odyssey and Weston would be entitled would seem to indicate that such damages would fall far short of the amount necessary to pay off the two loans.

38 In summary, although I am not satisfied that at this time there exists any default resulting from a transfer of assets pursuant to the restructuring plan or that the transfer of the deposit receipts to affiliates in the United States constitutes grounds for the appointment of a receiver, the existence of the other defaults with respect to interest payments, principal payments, arrears of taxes and failure to pay principal on demand, in my view, justifies the appointment of a receiver and none of the submissions put forward by counsel for Odyssey and Weston convinces me that it would be unjust or inequitable to grant such appointment.

39 Accordingly, an order will issue, substantially in the form of the order annexed as Sched. "A" to the notice of motion, appointing Coopers & Lybrand Limited as receiver and manager of the property, undertakings and assets of Odyssey and Weston. If counsel are unable to settle the terms of such order, they may attend upon me. Counsel may also make oral or written submissions to me as to the costs of this motion.

Motion allowed.

Donald Lee J.*:

Introduction

1 This is an application by Kasten Energy Inc. ("Kasten" or "Applicant") against Shamrock Oil & Gas Ltd. ("Shamrock" or "Respondent") seeking an Order of this Court, as a secured creditor, for the appointment of a Receiver and Manager of the Respondent's assets and undertaking.

Facts

2 Kasten is incorporated in Alberta as body corporate involved in the business of exploring and developing oil and gas; and a successor in interest to Premier CAT Service Ltd. ("Premier CAT").

3 Shamrock is incorporated in Alberta and has a petroleum and natural gas lease used to develop an oil well located at 2-02-90-13-W5 in the Sawn Lake region of Red Earth, Alberta ("Sawn Lake Well").

4 The Respondent, Shamrock entered into a contract with Premier CAT on or about June 1, 2010 which required Premier CAT to construct a road to Shamrock's well site. Following services provided under the contract, Shamrock became indebted to Premier CAT in the principal sum of $567,267.76. The debt was payable 60 days from the date of invoice at the interest rate of 24% per annum.

5 On or about July 22, 2010, a General Security Agreement ("GSA") was granted by Shamrock to Premier CAT for a security interest in all present and after acquired personal property of Shamrock as security for repayment of the outstanding debt.

6 By a Debt Assignment Agreement dated January 20, 2011 ("Debt Assignment"), Premier CAT assigned Shamrock's outstanding debt, along with the underlying security, to Kasten. The registration of the GSA at the Personal Property Registry was amended on February 4, 2011 to delete Premier CAT and substitute Kasten as the secured creditor. As a result, Shamrock became indebted to Kasten, the successor in interest to Premier CAT.

7 As of July 30, 2012, the outstanding indebtedness of Shamrock to Kasten was $777,216.26 based on the amount owed to Premier CAT at the date of the Debt Assignment, plus accrued interest at the agreed rate of 24% per annum.

8 On or about October 31, 2011, Shamrock issued a Notice of Intention to Make a Proposal pursuant to the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act, RSC 1985, c B-3, s 50.4 [BIA]. Later, on November 25, 2011, Shamrock submitted a BIA, Part III, Division 1 Proposal addressed to all its secured and unsecured creditors. Under the Proposal, Stout Energy Inc. ("Stout"), a grandparent company to Shamrock would retain BDO Canada Limited as proposal trustee; and Stout would operate the Sawn Lake Well under a joint operating agreement with Shamrock. This agreement contemplated that after recovery of Stout's capital investment, 80% of the net revenue generated from operations would be paid to secured creditors until full payment while unsecured creditors would receive 20% until full payment.

9 At a meeting of Shamrock's creditors convened by the trustee on December 15, 2011, Kasten, a secured creditor voted against the proposal but all the unsecured creditors voted in favour of the proposal. Subsequently, on January 31, 2012, Shamrock made an application to the Court of Queen's Bench for an approval of the Proposal. Kasten opposed the application before Master Breitkreuz, the presiding Registrar. Ultimately, the Proposal was approved by the Court.

10 On February 25, 2012, a Demand for Payment was issued to Shamrock on Kasten's instruction, along with a Notice of Intention to Enforce a Security, pursuant to the BIA, s 244. The total amount of indebtedness as at this demand date was $760,059.18. As of October 9, 2012, the indebtedness had climbed to $799,595.06 taking into account the sum of $45,130.58 which was the only cheque that Kasten received from Shamrock since the Court approved the Proposal.

Issue

11 The issue before me is whether a Receiver and Manager of Shamrock's assets and undertaking should be appointed.

Law

12 The test for the grant of an Order of this Court appointing a Receiver is set out in the Judicature Act, RSA 2000, c J-2, s 13(2) which provides that:

> An order in the nature of a mandamus or injunction may be granted or a receiver appointed by an interlocutory order of the Court in all cases in which it appears to the Court to be just or convenient that the order should be made, and the order may be made either unconditionally or on any terms and conditions the Court thinks just.

Parties' Positions and Analysis

13 Both parties agree that the factors that may be considered in making a determination whether it is just and convenient to appoint a Receiver are listed in a non-exhaustive manner in Paragon Capital Corp. v. Merchants & Traders Assurance Co., 2002 ABQB 430 (Alta. Q.B.) at para 27, (2002), 316 A.R. 128 (Alta. Q.B.) [Paragon Capital], citing from Frank Bennett, Bennett on Receiverships, 2nd ed (Toronto: Thompson Canada Ltd, 1995) at 130] to include:

> a) whether irreparable harm might be caused if no order were made, although it is not essential for a creditor to establish irreparable harm if a receiver is not appointed, particularly where the appointment of a receiver is authorized by the security documentation;
> b) the risk to the security holder taking into consideration the size of the debtor's equity in the assets and the need for protection or safeguarding of the assets while litigation takes place;
>
> c) the nature of the property;
>
> d) the apprehended or actual waste of the debtor's assets;
>
> e) the preservation and protection of the property pending judicial resolution;
> f) the balance of convenience to the parties;

g) the fact that the creditor has the right to appoint a receiver under the documentation provided for the loan;

h) the enforcement of rights under a security instrument where the security-holder encounters or expects to encounter difficulty with the debtor and others;

i) the principle that the appointment of a receiver is extraordinary relief which should be granted cautiously and sparingly;

j) the consideration of whether a court appointment is necessary to enable the receiver to carry out its' duties more efficiently;

k) the effect of the order upon the parties;

l) the conduct of the parties;

m) the length of time that a receiver may be in place;

n) the cost to the parties;

o) the likelihood of maximizing return to the parties;

p) the goal of facilitating the duties of the receiver.

Kasten's Submissions

14 The Applicant submits that the evidence before this Court is that since the Proposal was approved, the expenses on Shamrock's well production have exceeded revenues by a substantial margin such that it's unlikely that Shamrock would be able to pay the outstanding indebtedness in a timely manner. The revenue accruing from the Sawn Lake Well, which is Shamrock's primary asset, has not been directed at paying the debt owed Kasten.

15 Kasten contends that it has the right to appoint a Receiver under the GSA (at para 8.2. It notes that on the basis of the evidence in this case, Shamrock is insolvent and this situation is not improving. The risk of waste under the joint operating agreement is palpably real as Stout is spending substantial amount of money as expenses for well operations while channelling revenues in a selective manner. Kasten submits that irreparable harm may result if a Receiver is not appointed, pending judicial resolution of this matter, to properly manage and preserve the value of the well and its associated lease, as well as to distribute revenues equitably to all interested parties.

16 Kasten argues that the balance of convenience favours the appointment of a Receiver who would be better positioned to distribute revenues equitably to all interested parties and creditors since Shamrock is unable to comply with the payment schedule. Kasten reiterates that nothing demonstrates its good faith in pursuit of its legitimate interest to get paid the debt owed more than the patience it has displayed towards Shamrock for nearly two years.

17 The Applicant notes that Shamrock's argument on the issue of whether the GSA covers the oil and gas in the ground along with the right to extract the minerals distracts from the main issue of whether this Court should appoint a Receiver in the circumstances of this matter. Kasten argues that there is no doubt that a Crown oil-and-gas lease is a contract that contains a profit à prendre, which is an interest in land: Amoco Canada Resources Ltd. v. Amax Petroleum of Canada Inc., 1992 ABCA 93 (Alta. C.A.); at para 10, [1992] 4 W.W.R. 499 (Alta. C.A.). Nevertheless, leases have a dual nature as both a conveyance and a commercial contract; and as such, are subject to normal commercial principles: Highway Properties Ltd. v. Kelly, Douglas & Co., [1971] S.C.R. 562 (S.C.C.), at 576, (1971), [1972] 2 W.W.R. 28 (S.C.C.). The contract is assignable and subject to seizure.

Shamrock's Submissions

18 The Respondent Shamrock submits that Kasten has not demonstrated that irreparable harm may result if this Court refuses to appoint a Receiver. Instead, Stout has injected huge sums of money to improve the revenue potential of the Sawn Lake Well. Shamrock contends that if a Receiver is appointed, Stout may cease funding operations and oil and gas production will cease. Further, Shamrock says that it had also initiated a sale process and does not perceive any risk to Kasten while waiting for the completion of that process.

19 Shamrock argues that by nature, the property involved in this case calls for a continuous operation by Stout and itself that are better equipped in developing and operating oil well than a Receiver, probably unfamiliar with the oil business. It notes that the Sawn Lake Well cannot be moved from its present location and there is no evidence of waste regarding the well. Shamrock apprehends that Kasten's motivation is "not a good faith pursuit of repayment of debt, but rather an attempt to obtain the Sawn Lake Well."

Should a Receiver be Appointed in this Case?

20 The Alberta Court of Appeal notes in BG International Ltd. v. Canadian Superior Energy Inc., 2009 ABCA 127 (Alta. C.A.) at paras 16-17 that a remedial Order to appoint a Receiver "should not be lightly granted" and the chambers judge should: (i) carefully explore whether there are other remedies, short of a receivership, that could serve to protect the interests of the applicant; (ii) carefully balance the rights of both the applicant and the respondent; and (iii) consider the effect of granting the receivership order, and if possible use a remedy short of receivership.

21 The security documentation in the present case authorizes the appointment of a Receiver (GSA, para 8.2). Thus, even if I accept the argument that the Applicant Kasten has not been able to demonstrate irreparable harm, that itself would not be determinative of whether or not a Receiver should be appointed in this matter. It is not essential for a creditor to establish irreparable harm if a receiver is not appointed: Paragon Capital at para 27. I am also not persuaded by Shamrock's suggestion that it is probable that Stout may cease funding its operations and this development would result in irreparable harm which may be avoided by the Court's refusal to appoint a Receiver. In my view, such a cessation of funding by Stout would likely amount to a breach under the joint operating agreement and Shamrock could accordingly, seek appropriate remedy. This factor or consideration should not stand in the way of an appointment of a Receiver, if it is otherwise just to do so.

22 Shamrock objects to the appointment of a Receiver based on the nature of the property and the probability that a court-appointed Receiver may lack familiarity with oil well development and operation. However, this concern is not insurmountable, given the broad management authority and discretion that a court-appointed Receiver would possess to enable it do everything positively necessary to ensure that the operation of the relevant oil well continues in a productive and efficient manner.

23 In terms of apprehended or actual waste, there is no concrete evidence before this Court one way or the other. However, it is apparent that Shamrock has not made any substantial payments to Kasten from the alleged revenues flowing from the operation and production in the Sawn Lake Well. This situation also ties in to one of the factors that this court should consider, i.e. whether the manner in which Shamrock is making payments to Kasten (as a security-holder) forms a reasonable basis for Kasten to expect that it would encounter difficulty with Shamrock (as the debtor). Kasten contends that it is critical that there is no evidence before this Court to demonstrate the veracity of the claim that the Sawn Lake Well is generating the alleged production; and neither is there any evidence as to where the alleged revenues accruing from the production is being diverted.

24 In my view, the approach which Shamrock has adopted in paying the debts owed to Kasten seems to be a justifiable basis for Kasten's apprehension that it would likely and ultimately encounter difficulties with Shamrock. And based on this ground, it would be inaccurate to characterize Kasten's tenacious pursuit of Shamrock for its indebtedness as an activity motivated by bad faith, as Shamrock alleges.

25 Shamrock states that it had initiated a sale of Sawn Lake Well. At this point however, there is no indication that Shamrock's initiative or endeavour is moving ahead in a positive manner. After the chambers application before me on November 29, 2012, Mr. Nathan Richter (on behalf of Stout) sent a letter dated December 14, 2012 to Kasten (see, attachment to Shamrock's supplemental brief filed Dec. 14, 2012). The letter indicated that four postdated cheques were sent to Kasten as payments of monthly interests until March, 2013 and pending the anticipated sale of Sawn Lake Well in April, 2013. Mr. Richter also confirmed in the letter that no formal bids were received as at the bid deadline date of December 12, 2012.

26 After carefully considering whether there are other remedies, short of a receivership, that could serve to protect the interests of the Applicant in this matter and also carefully balancing the rights and interests of both Kasten and Shamrock, I have come to the conclusion that a remedial Order to appoint a Receiver and Manager is just, convenient and appropriate in the circumstances of the developments and delays in this matter.

Is Shamrock's Oil and Gas Lease Covered by the GSA?

27 Kasten submits that while the GSA is not directly enforceable against the oil and gas under (or in) the ground, once the oil and gas comes out of the ground and captured by Shamrock it becomes subject to the GSA in much the same manner as the production facilities that are clearly covered by the GSA. It agrees that the oil and gas lease contains a profit à prendre, but submits that the right of Shamrock to extract oil and gas as granted by the Crown is transferable.

28 Shamrock agrees that a Receiver could only be appointed over its personal property, which includes the oil when it is produced and removed from the ground. However, it contends that the authority of the Receiver does not extend to the lease or the sale of Sawn Lake Well since Kasten has no security over the PNG lease under the GSA and can only receive revenue from the Well. Shamrock takes the position that the oil and gas lease is a profit à prendre, which is an interest in land excluded under Alberta's PPSA, s 4(f).

29 I note that the Supreme Court of Canada in Saulnier (Receiver of) v. Saulnier, 2008 SCC 58, [2008] 3 S.C.R. 166 (S.C.C.) [Saulnier] discussed the term "property" in the context of a commercial fishing licence under the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act, RSC 1985, c B-3, s 2 [BIA] and Nova Scotia's Personal Property Security Act, SNS 1995-96, c 13 [PPSA]. The provision of the relevant section of Nova Scotia's PPSA is identical to that of Alberta's Personal Property Security Act, RSA 2000, c P-7.

30 The Supreme Court in Saulnier held that the BIA and PPSA should be interpreted in a way best suited to enable them accomplish their respective commercial purposes. Binnie, J, writing for the Court, observed that:

> [28] ... [A] fishing licence ... bears some analogy to a common law profit à prendre which is undeniably a property right. A profit à prendre enables the holder to enter onto the land of another to extract some part of the natural produce, such as crops or game birds ...
>
> [29] Fichaud J.A. in the court below noted numerous cases where it was held that "during the term of a license the license holder has a beneficial interest to the earnings from his license" (para. 37) ... The earnings flow from the catch which is lawfully reduced to possession at the time of the catch, as is the case with a profit à prendre.
>
> [30] Some analytical comfort may be drawn in this connection from the observations of R. Megarry and H. W. R. Wade on The Law of Real Property (4th ed. 1975), at p. 779:
>
> A licence may be coupled with some proprietary interest in other property. Thus the right to enter another man's land to hunt and take away the deer killed, or to enter and cut down a tree and take it away, involves two things, namely, a licence to enter the land and the grant of an interest (a profit à prendre) in the deer or tree.
>
> And at p. 822:
>
> A right to "hawk, hunt, fish and fowl" may thus exist as a profit, for this gives the right to take creatures living on the soil which, when killed, are capable of being owned.
> [31] The analogy of a commercial fishing licence to the profit à prendre has already been noted by the High Court of Australia in Harper v. Minister for Sea Fisheries (1989), 168 C.L.R. 314 [where] Brennan J. [observed]:

> A fee paid to obtain such a privilege is analogous to the price of a profit à prendre; it is a charge for the acquisition of a right akin to property. Such a fee may be distinguished from a fee exacted for a licence merely to do some act which is otherwise prohibited (for example, a fee for a licence to sell liquor) where there is no resource to which a right of access is obtained by payment of the fee. [p. 335]
> . . .
>
> [33] In my view these observations are helpful ... there are important points of analogy between the fishing licences issued to the appellant Saulnier and the form of common law property called a profit à prendre ...
>
> [34] My point is simply that the subject matter of the licence (i.e. the right to participate in a fishery that is exclusive to licence holders) coupled with a proprietary interest in the fish caught pursuant to its terms, bears a reasonable analogy to rights traditionally considered at common law to be proprietary in nature. It is thus reasonably within the contemplation of the definition of "property" [which in] this connection the property in question is the fish harvest.
> (emphasis added)

31 In my view, the oil and gas lease in this case which grants a right (or licence) to Shamrock to access, drill for and extract the resource or substance from the ground is analogical and identical to a commercial fishing licence which grants the right to harvesting of fish resource as discussed in Saulnier. This is in the sense that during the term of the oil and gas lease/licence, Shamrock, the lease holder has a beneficial interest to the earnings from its oil and gas lease: Saulnier at para 29. The right to exclusively extract oil and gas by Shamrock, the lease holder coupled with a proprietary interest in the extracted resource pursuant to the terms of the lease/licence, "bears a reasonable analogy to rights traditionally considered at common law to be proprietary in nature": Saulnier at para 34.

32 In the result, I conclude that Shamrock's oil and gas lease is a proprietary interest within the purposive contemplation of Alberta's Personal Property Security Act: Saulnier at para 34; Stout & Co. LLP v. Chez Outdoors Ltd., 2009 ABQB 444 (Alta. Q.B.) at para 39, (2009), 9 Alta. L.R. (5th) 366 (Alta. Q.B.) [Chez Outdoors]. Shamrock's oil and gas lease is covered by the GSA and Alberta's Personal Property Security Act in the category of "intangibles": Chez Outdoors at para 15. That right is transferable and falls within the power and authority of a court-appointed Receiver, subject to the terms of the oil and gas lease as agreed with the Crown.

Scope of the Court-Appointed Receiver's Authority

33 This Court has the authority to make an Order either "unconditionally or on any terms and conditions" it thinks just, including a restriction of the powers of a Receiver and Manager if necessary in the circumstances of the case before it: Judicature Act, s 13(2).

34 Kasten seeks a court-appointed Receiver who is a court officer owing a fiduciary duty to all parties, including the debtor: Philip's Manufacturing Ltd., Re (1992), 92 D.L.R. (4th) 161 (B.C. C.A.) at para 17, [1992] 5 W.W.R. 549 (B.C. C.A.) (WL). It argues that the court-appointed Receiver would take instructions from the Court and not from Kasten. The Receiver would be bound to act in the best interests of all parties. In a volte-face, Kasten seeks in its supplemental brief that this Court should appoint it as a Receiver. There was no reason specifically advanced by Kasten for its new position.

35 Shamrock submits that a Consent Receivership Order should be granted and the Receiver should not be conferred with a power of sale. It wants the Order held in abeyance until April 1, 2013 or when Shamrock/Stout fails to make a payment of interest as scheduled, whichever occurs first, in order to allow for the sale of Sawn Lake Well.

36 The Respondent notes that Kasten now seeks to be appointed as the Receiver and Manager instead of the earlier proposed independent body corporate, MNP Ltd. which had given its consent to act as Receiver and Manager of Shamrock, the debtor.

37 In the absence of any clear objection to the appointment of MNP Ltd., an independent and neutral entity in this matter, an Order will issue to name MNP Ltd. as the court-appointed Receiver and Manager of all the current and future assets, undertakings and properties of Shamrock Oil and Gas Ltd. until Kasten and other creditors (secured and unsecured) are paid in full. The Receiver and Manager will have no power of sale, except as approved by an Order of this Court. However its authority is suspended until April 1, 2013 in order to accommodate any potential sale of Sawn Lake Well by Shamrock. To be clear, if Sawn Lake Well is not sold on or before April 1, 2013, the power and authority of the Receiver and Manager is to become effective immediately on that day.

38 If parties are unable to agree on costs, they should arrange to speak to me within 30 days of the issue of this decision.

Application granted.
