I. INTRODUCTION

- 1) This Bench Brief is submitted on behalf of MNP Ltd. in its capacity as Receiver of Wolf Creek Golf Resort Ltd. (the “Receiver” or “MNP”) who applies for an Order to increase the amount of the Receiver’s borrowings under the Receivership Order from $200,000 to $400,000.
- 2) The purpose for requesting an increase in the Receiver’s borrowings amount is to allow it to pay property tax arrears owing to the County of Ponoka to take advantage of the Count’s agreement to waive penalties totalling $106,177.40 if the principal amount of the taxes owing in the amount of $137,155.42, are paid by December 31, 2022.

II. FACTS

- 3) MNP Ltd. was appointed as Receiver of Wolf Creek Golf Resort Ltd. (the “Debtor”) by way of an Order granted on October 13, 2022, by this Honourable Court (the “Receivership Order”).
- 4) The Debtor owned and operated a well-known golf course named Wolf Creek located on lands south and west of Ponoka, Alberta. The golf course lands are in each of the Counties of Ponoka and Lacombe.
- 5) The Debtor owes municipal property taxes to each county: with penalties, $243,332.82 to Ponoka County and a total of $20, 870.19 to Lacombe County.<sup>1</sup>
- 6) The County of Ponoka has proposed that it will waive penalties and interest on the property tax arrears owing to it if the arrears are paid by December 31, 2022. The amount needed to be paid is $137,155.42 and if paid, penalties of $106, 177.40 will be waived.<sup>2</sup>
- 7) In addition, Lacombe County will accrue further penalties if at a rate of 10% if the taxes are not paid by December 1, 2022.<sup>3</sup>
- 8) Pursuant to paragraph 21 of the Receivership Order, the principal amount of the Receiver’s borrowings was set at a maximum of $200,000.

- 9) The borrowing limit was originally established based on an Estimated Cost Summary for the period October 13, 2022, to November 30, 2022 which estimated costs at $133,000 exclusive of professional fees.<sup>4</sup>
- 10) Present borrowings by the Receiver total $175,000.<sup>5</sup>

III. ISSUE

- 11) Ought the Court exercise its discretion to grant the Receiver's request to increase the borrowing limit to $400,000?

IV. LAW AND ARGUMENT

a. Jurisdiction of the Court to grant the relief requested

- 12) Sections 31, 243 and 249 of the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act (Canada) ("BIA") ground the Courts jurisdiction to grant the relief sought in this instance.<sup>6</sup>
- 13) The relief is discretionary and in this instance the Court must be satisfied that granting the relief is in the best interests of the Receivership estate.

b. Increasing the Receiver's borrowings amount maximizes benefits to the creditors

- 14) Under the Municipal Government Act, municipality property taxes are considered a special lien on the land and improvements to the land and take priority over the claims of every person except the Crown.<sup>7</sup>
- 15) Penalties are included within the ambit of the special lien and have priority to other creditors.
- 16) One important purpose of receivership is to preserve the debtor's assets for the benefit of all secured creditors and other creditors.<sup>8</sup>

- 17) The offer by Ponoka County to waive penalties totalling $106,177.40 if the principal amount of the taxes is paid will have the effect of increasing the available equity in the assets of the Debtor by that amount for the benefit of the creditors.
- 18) Paying the amount owing to Lacombe County and avoiding an increase in penalties, which the Receiver has already done, will have similar effect.
- 19) In Order to make the payments, however, the Receiver will need to borrow additional funds to do so.
- 20) The cost of the additional borrowings will be approximately $22,000 if they remain unpaid for a year. Despite the cost, the savings to the estate in being able to take advantage of the waiver of penalties will be substantial.<sup>9</sup>

V. CONCLUSION

- 21) MNP respectfully requests that this Honourable Court permit the amount of the Receiver's Borrowings under the Receivership Order to be increased. The appointing creditor, Cobra Mortgage Services Ltd., supports the application.

ALL OF WHICH IS RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED THIS 7th DAY OF NOVEMBER, 2022.

Memorandum of Judgment

The Court:

Introduction and Standard of Review

[1] The issue on this appeal is whether the chambers judge properly exercised his discretion under s 243(6) of the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act, RSC 1985, c B-3 [BIA] when he refused to prioritize a receiver's charge for fees and disbursements over a municipality's claim for unpaid property taxes: Royal Bank of Canada v Reid-Built Homes Ltd, 2018 ABQB 124 [Decision].

[2] The exercise of discretion is given deference on appeal unless the judge proceeded arbitrarily or on a wrong principle, or failed to consider or properly apply the applicable test: Secure 2013 Group Inc v Tiger Calcium Services Inc, 2017 ABCA 316 at para 34, 58 Alta LR (6th) 209.

Background

[3] The appellant, Alvarez & Marsal Canada Inc, was the court-appointed receiver (the Receiver) for seven companies, collectively referred to as Reid-Built, a residential home builder. Reid-Built was placed in receivership and the Receiver appointed under the BIA by court order on November 2, 2017. The receivership order gives priority to the Receiver's charges over other claims.

[4] On November 24, 2017, the Receiver applied for an order granting it the authority to repair, maintain and complete Reid-Built's properties, and a corresponding first priority charge as against each specific property for any expenses incurred (Property Powers Order). Such expenses are included in the Receiver's claim for fees and disbursements (Receiver's Charge). The Receiver's application was heard on November 29, 2017. At the same time, the chambers judge heard applications filed by two secured creditors of Reid-Built, both of which disputed the priority for the Receiver's Charge. Before those applications were disposed of, the respondent Edmonton applied to modify the Property Powers Order, or alternatively for a declaration that its special lien for unpaid property taxes ranks ahead of the Receiver's Charge.

[5] The chambers judge dismissed the applications of the secured creditors (that part of his order has not been appealed), but granted Edmonton's application. The Receiver appeals.

Issues on appeal

[6] The issue on appeal is whether the chambers judge erred in principle in his approach to the applications before him. The Receiver submits that the chambers judge erred in the exercise of his discretion under s 243(6) by relying on considerations that were incorrect in fact or in law.

[7] The Receiver also submits that the chambers judge failed to provide the parties with a proper opportunity to make submissions on the point, thereby breaching the duty of fairness.

[8] For the reasons that follow, we have decided that the first ground of appeal must be allowed. The chambers judge improperly exercised his discretion in deciding that the Receiver's Charge ought not to rank ahead of Edmonton's property tax claim. Given our decision on the first issue, it is not necessary for us to consider the procedural fairness issue, and we have not done so.

Analysis

[9] Section 243 of the BIA deals with the appointment of a receiver by the court on the application of a secured creditor. This appeal concerns the discretion granted the court by s 243(6), which governs the making of orders respecting the payment of the receiver's fees and disbursements and, in particular, gives the court the discretion to grant a super priority to a receiver's claim for fees and disbursements. It provides:

(6) If a receiver is appointed under subsection (1), the court may make any order respecting the payment of fees and disbursements of the receiver that it considers proper, including one that gives the receiver a charge, ranking ahead of any or all of the secured creditors, over all or part of the property of the insolvent person or bankrupt in respect of the receiver's claim for fees or disbursements, but the court may not make the order unless it is satisfied that the secured creditors who would be materially affected by the order were given reasonable notice and an opportunity to make representations.

[10] The standard receivership order template provides for such a priority. The intended purpose of the template, which was developed as a joint project of the insolvency bar and bench, is to standardize receivership practice. It has provided guidance for practitioners and the judiciary since its inception. The standard receivership order does not bind the court, but serves as a standard form from which deviations must be blacklined before the court grants the initial receivership order. The receivership order issued in this matter included the following provision with respect to the Receiver's accounts:

Any expenditure or liability which shall properly be made or incurred by the Receiver ... shall be allowed to it in passing its accounts and shall form a first charge on the Property in priority to all security interests, trusts, liens, charges and encumbrances, statutory or otherwise, in favour of any Person (the "Receiver's Charge")

[11] Edmonton objected to the Receiver's Charge being granted priority over its claim to unpaid property taxes. It pointed out that s 348 of the Municipal Government Act, RSA 2000, c M-26 [MGA], grants to Edmonton a special lien over land and any improvements on it for property tax amounts owing. Section 348 provides:

Tax becomes debt to municipality

- 348 Taxes due to a municipality
- (a) are an amount owing to the municipality,
  - (b) are recoverable as a debt due to the municipality,
  - (c) take priority over the claims of every person except the Crown, and
  - (d) are a special lien
    - (i) on land and any improvements to the land, if the tax is a property tax, a community revitalization levy, a special tax, a clean energy improvement tax, a local improvement tax or a community aggregate payment levy, or
    - (ii) on goods, if the tax is a business tax, a community revitalization levy, a well drilling equipment tax, a community aggregate payment levy or a property tax imposed in respect of a designated manufactured home in a manufactured home community. [emphasis added]

[12] Edmonton argued that its lien for unpaid property taxes should rank ahead of the Receiver's Charge, as Edmonton, whose claim is fully secured and in first position, will not gain any benefit from the receivership. In short, as Edmonton's claim will be paid out in full regardless of the receivership, it should not have to bear the cost of the receivership.

[13] In addition to Edmonton's application, the chambers judge had before him two other applications from secured creditors—a mortgagee and a builders' lien claimant. The first, ICI Capital Corporation (ICI), had a first mortgage on certain of the debtor's properties and sought to have the stay lifted so that it could take proceedings to enforce those mortgages. ICI also argued that, as a first mortgagee, it should not yield its priority position to the Receiver, a position similar to that taken by Edmonton. In the absence of evidence of prejudice to ICI, the chambers judge declined to lift the stay, although he gave ICI leave to reapply should circumstances materially change. The other applicant, Standard General Inc (Standard General), a contractor to Reid-Built that had filed builders' liens against certain lands, argued that Alberta's builders' lien legislation establishes its priority position ahead of the Receiver. That argument was dismissed. The chambers judge ultimately determined that it was appropriate for the Receiver's Charge related to the assets in question to take priority over the builders' liens.

[14] The chambers judge exercised his discretion to grant the Receiver's Charge priority over the claims of both the mortgagee and builders' lien claimant. Relevant to his consideration was the decision in Robert F Kowal Investments Ltd v Deeder Electric Ltd (1975), 59 DLR (3d) 492, 9 OR (2d) 84 (CA) [Kowal], applied in Royal Bank v Vulcan Machinery & Equipment Ltd, [1992] 6 WWR 307, 13 CBR 69 (ABQB). Kowal refers to a general rule that secured creditors may not be subject to the charges and expenses of a receivership. This is so because, “the general purpose of a general receivership is to preserve and realize the property for the benefit of creditors in general. No receivership may be necessary to protect or realize the interests of lienholders”: Kowal, quoting Ralph Ewing Clark, Clark On Receivers, 3rd ed, vol 1, s 22, p 25. There are, however, exceptions to that general rule, three of which were enumerated in Kowal:

1. if a receiver has been appointed at the request or with the consent or approval of the holders of security, the receiver will be given priority over the security holders;
2. if a receiver has been appointed to preserve and realize assets for the benefit of all interested parties, including secured creditors, the receiver will be given priority over the secured creditors for charges and expenses properly incurred; or
3. if the receiver has expended money for the necessary preservation or improvement of the property, the receiver may be given priority for those expenditures over secured creditors.

[15] These principles are well accepted and proper considerations for a court in exercising its discretion under s 243(6). The principles are also expressly incorporated in the explanatory notes to the template receivership order, which also states that the order should be modified so as not to provide for priority over a security interest holder if none of the exceptions apply.

[16] In his discussion of the applications by ICI and Standard General, the chambers judge made several pertinent observations with respect to the policy considerations relevant to the prioritization of the fees and disbursements of receivers (Decision at paras 136-137):

[136] The difficulty with making a determination at the outset of a receivership (even a liquidating receivership) is that the nature and extent of the work necessary to preserve, protect, maintain, and eventually liquidate a particular asset is unknown. I do not see that claimants with a proprietary claim are entitled to a free ride in a receivership, such that they should be responsible for payment of the costs of the receivership as they relate to the claimants’ claims and the cost of monetizing the claim. Those costs may include a part of the Receiver’s general costs as well as those that can be specifically tied to the specific assets in question.

[137] Up front, it is appropriate to have the Receiver’s charges rank ahead of claimants who will benefit from the Receivership, to the extent that they have benefitted from the Receivership. That means that for creditors who may benefit from the Receivership, the super priority is generally appropriate for the Receiver’s fees and disbursements, on the expectation that these fees and disbursements will ultimately be fairly apportioned.

[17] In making these observations, the chambers judge rightly recognized the modern commercial realities that affect receiverships. The super priority is necessary to protect receivers; without security for their fees and disbursements they would be understandably concerned about taking on receiverships. This is in keeping with the decision in CCM Master Qualified Fund v blutip PowerTechnologies, 2012 ONSC 1750, where it was noted that in CCAA proceedings, “professional services are provided ... in reliance on super priorities contained in initial orders”.<sup>1</sup> We agree with the observation of Brown J at para 22 that:

... comments regarding the need for certainty about the priority of charges for professional fees or borrowings apply, with equal force, to priority charges sought by a receiver pursuant to section 243(6) of the BIA. Certainty regarding the priority of administrative and borrowing charges is required as much in a receivership as in proceedings under the CCAA...

[18] The chambers judge also noted that the creditor who brings the application for the receivership should not be left to bear the entire financial burden of the process. Rather, those costs should be shared equitably amongst all the creditors. As was noted in JP Morgan Chase Bank NA v UTTC United Tri-Tech Corp (2006), 25 CBR (5th) 156 at para 45 (and cited in Caisse v River, 2013 ONSC 6809 at para 22), where a receiver is “appointed for the benefit of interested parties to ensure that all creditors are treated fairly and to ensure a fair process to deal with the assets, there is no valid reason for a secured creditor to avoid paying its fair share of the receivership costs”.

[19] Finally, the chambers judge noted that “[f]or creditors who have little if anything to benefit from a receivership, or who see their security eroding because of the passage of time or the costs of the receivership, their remedy is to apply to lift the stay” (para 141).

[20] The chambers judge reasonably applied these principles in declining to give priority to the claims of ICI and Standard General over the Receiver’s Charge. In our view, those observations and policy considerations were equally apposite to the application by Edmonton. However, the chambers judge approached Edmonton’s application differently. Having decided that Edmonton’s position “may be properly subordinate to the Receiver’s fees, disbursements, and borrowings”, the chambers judge held that this was not an appropriate case in which to subordinate the municipal tax claims to the costs of the receivership.

[21] There is, in our view, no principled reason for drawing this distinction between Edmonton's position and that of the mortgage and lien holders. The chambers judge's reasons for granting Edmonton's application are summarized at para 171:

On the facts of this case, it being a liquidating process and there being no apparent benefit to Edmonton arising out of the Receivership, Edmonton's priority for property taxes is not subordinate to the Receiver's fees or approved borrowings.

[22] We agree with the Receiver that the chambers judge's conclusion that "there is a less convincing case for secured creditors to participate in the Receiver's costs when the intent is to liquidate" is not supported by the law. The use of the term "liquidating receivership" suggests that there is some other type of receivership with a different intent. As is stated in Bennett on Receivership, "the purpose of the receivership is to enhance and facilitate the preservation and realization, if necessary, of the debtor's assets for the benefit of all creditors". A court-appointed receiver of an insolvent company is expected "to realize on the debtor's assets and pay the security holders and the other creditors who are owed money": Frank Bennett, Bennett on Receiverships, 3d ed (Toronto: Carswell, 2011) at 6.

[23] The policy behind receiverships is that collective action is preferable to unilateral action. The receiver maximizes the returns for the benefit of all creditors and streamlines the process of liquidation. As was noted recently in Royal Bank v Delta Logistics, 2017 ONSC 368 at para 26:

The whole point of a court-appointed receivership is that one person ... is appointed to deal with all of the assets of an insolvent debtor, realize upon them, and then distribute the proceeds of that realization to the creditors.

[24] With respect to ICI's claim, the chambers judge held:

I do not see that it is appropriate at this stage to exempt ICI from potential liability for whatever portion of the Receiver's fees, disbursements, and approved borrowings may be apportioned to ICI on any of the properties it holds mortgages on. ICI does stand to benefit from the Receivership in that the Receiver will preserve and protect the properties, collect rents and ultimately monetize the security. ICI would have to be doing these things themselves if the Receiver were not doing so. (para 159)

[25] This is a reasonable conclusion. However, the same could be said for Edmonton's claim for priority. There is nothing on the record to suggest that Edmonton will receive no benefit from the process undertaken by the Receiver on behalf of all creditors. What is known is that Edmonton would have to run individual auction proceedings for each property over which it has a municipal tax claim, and would incur costs in doing so. Under the receivership process, Edmonton's outstanding taxes are being paid out as properties are sold in an orderly fashion. Edmonton acknowledges its security is not at risk in this process. There is no evidence that the running of individual auctions would serve to maximize the value of the properties; rather, it is likely that the opposite is the case.

[26] Although the court has discretion under s 243(6) with respect to the priority to be given to receiver's charges, the exercise of discretion must be on a principled basis. For the foregoing reasons, we have concluded that the appeal with respect to Edmonton's application for priority must be allowed. The Receiver has a super priority for its fees and disbursements in accordance with the original receivership order. As was noted by the chambers judge, the amount of those costs to be paid by Edmonton, and the other secured creditors, will ultimately be the subject of an apportionment exercise. Issues raised by Edmonton in this appeal regarding the extent to which it benefits from the receivership process may be relevant at the apportionment phase.
